EPILOGUE

Chuck Stanninger

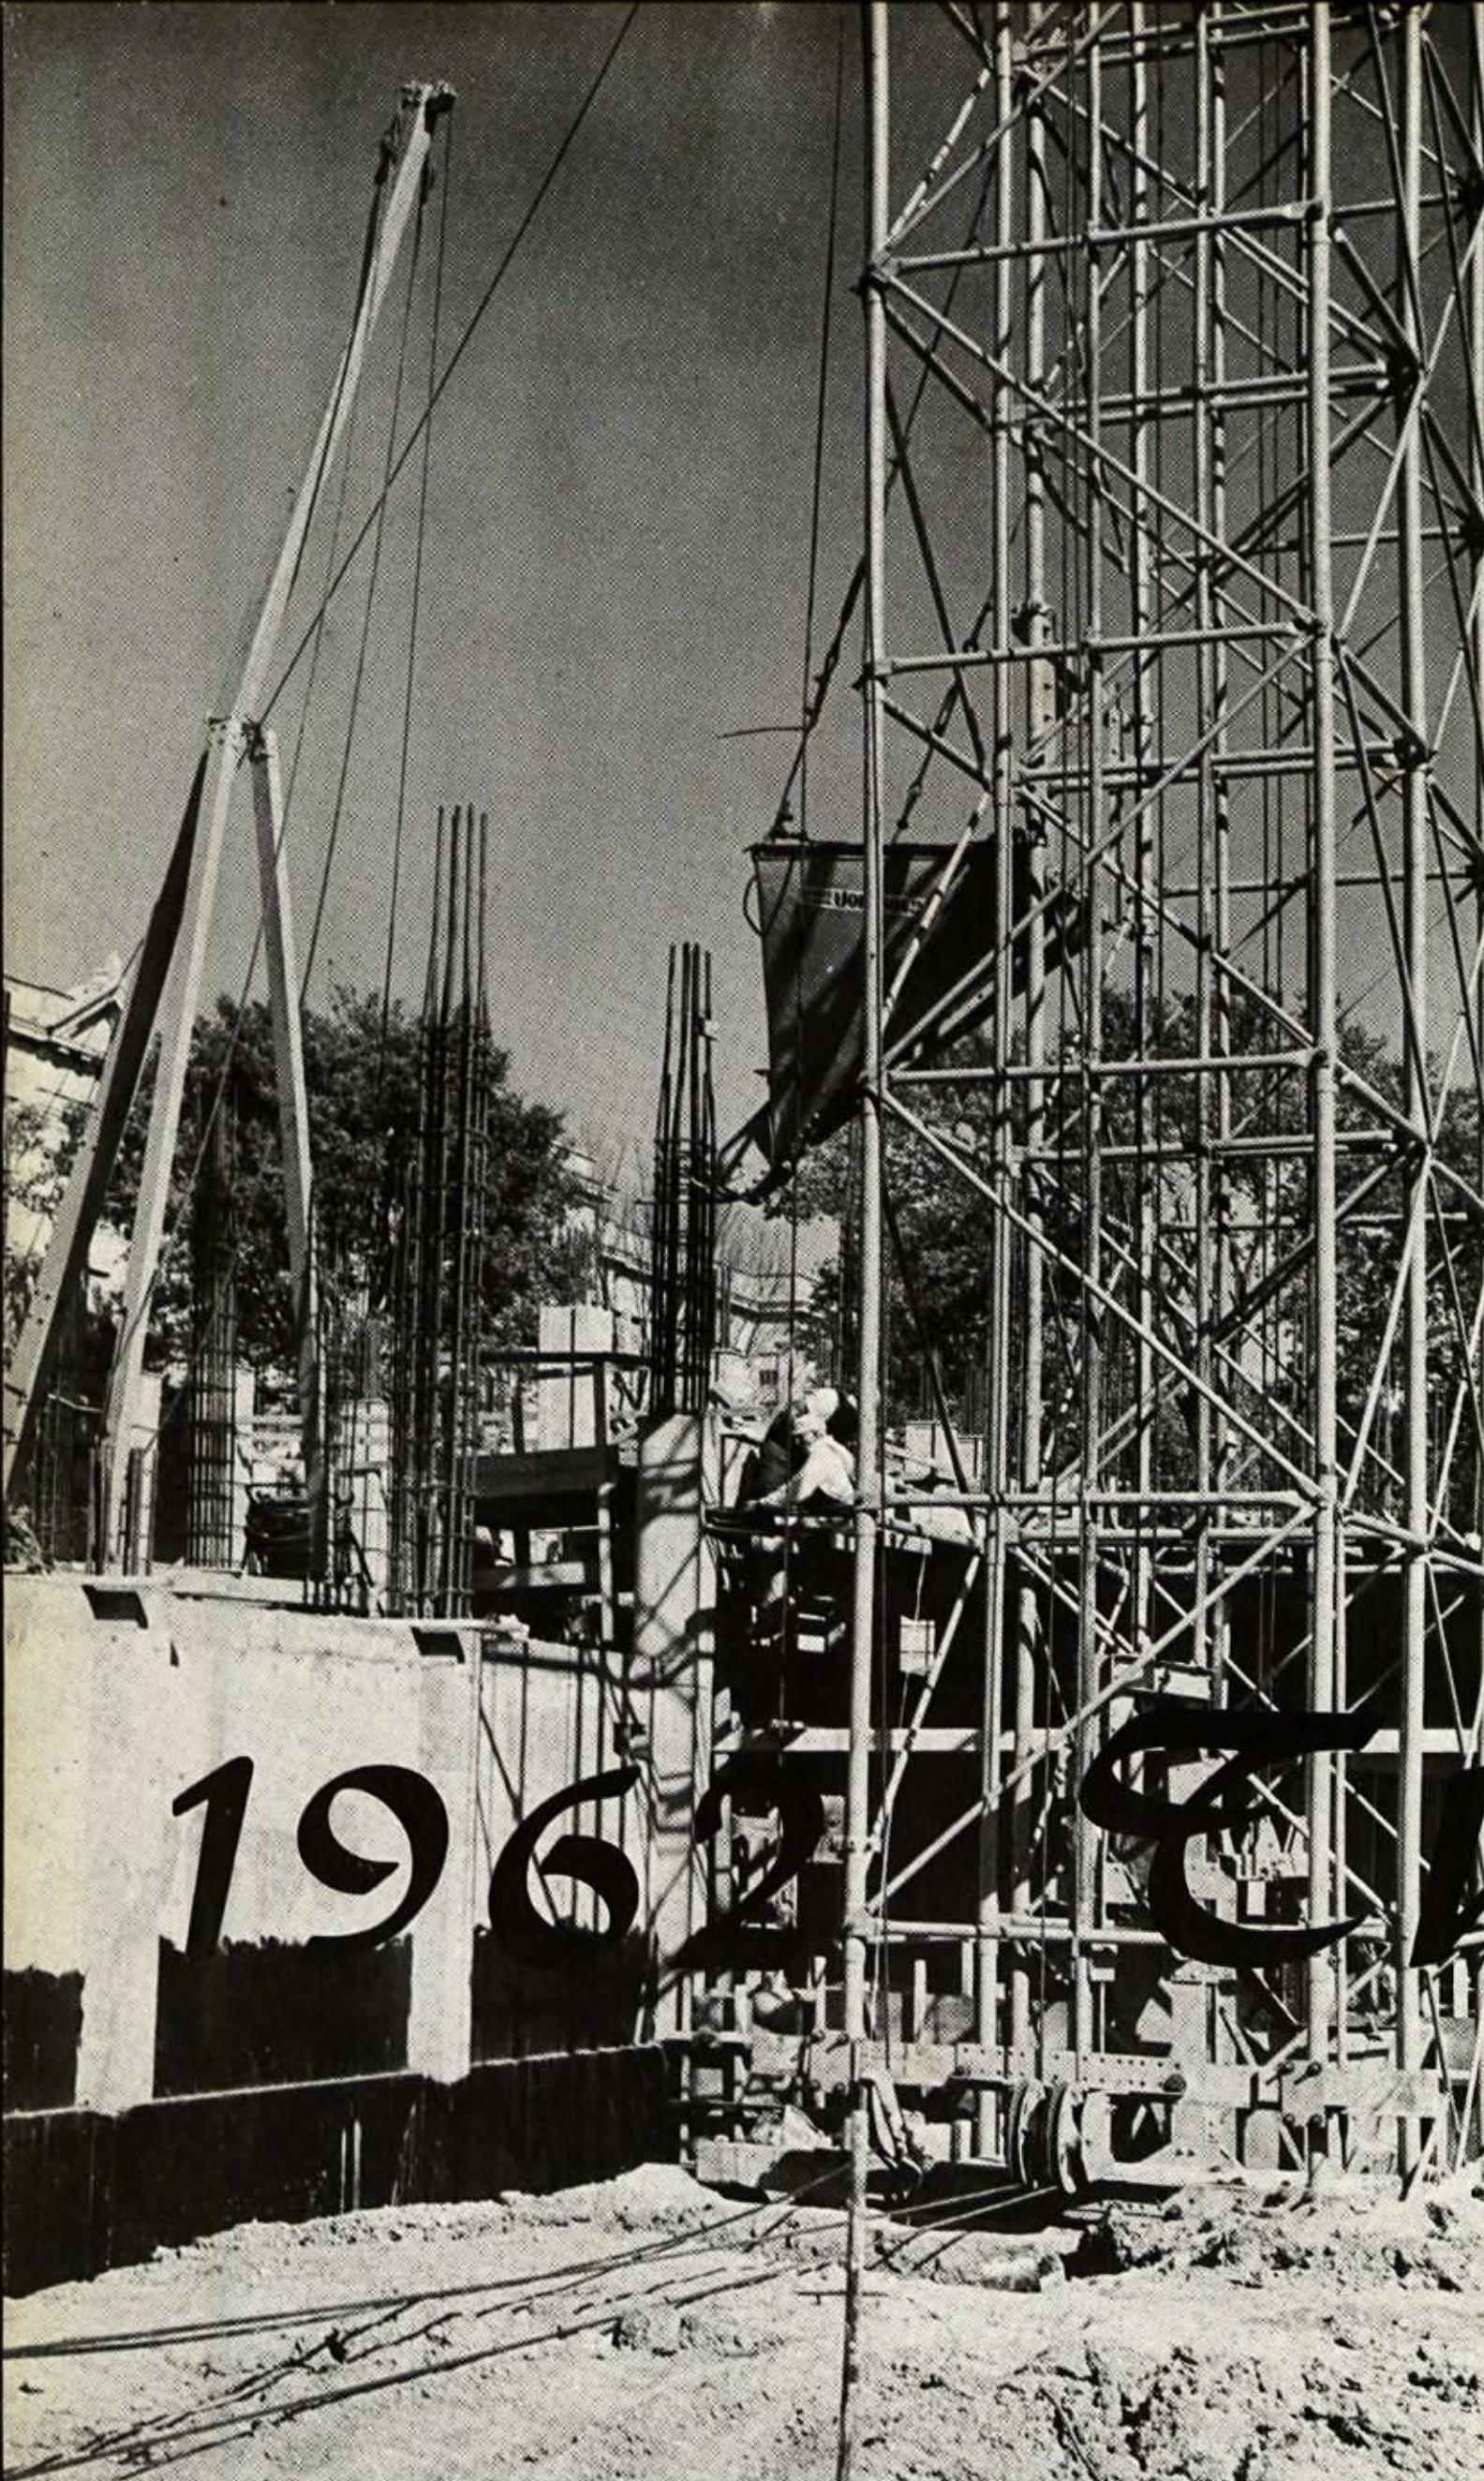

As a laboratory for university students of education, the school does exemplify the best practice for public education; provide observation and practice in which student teachers may acquire directed experiences in the art and science of teaching; provide opportunities for observing experimentation and evaluation in educational procedures; provide opportunities for the study to understand the school in its community relationships and to participate in community activities; provide opportunities for the investigation of educational problems; insure wholesome laboratory experiences for the university students by functioning as an effective school for children.

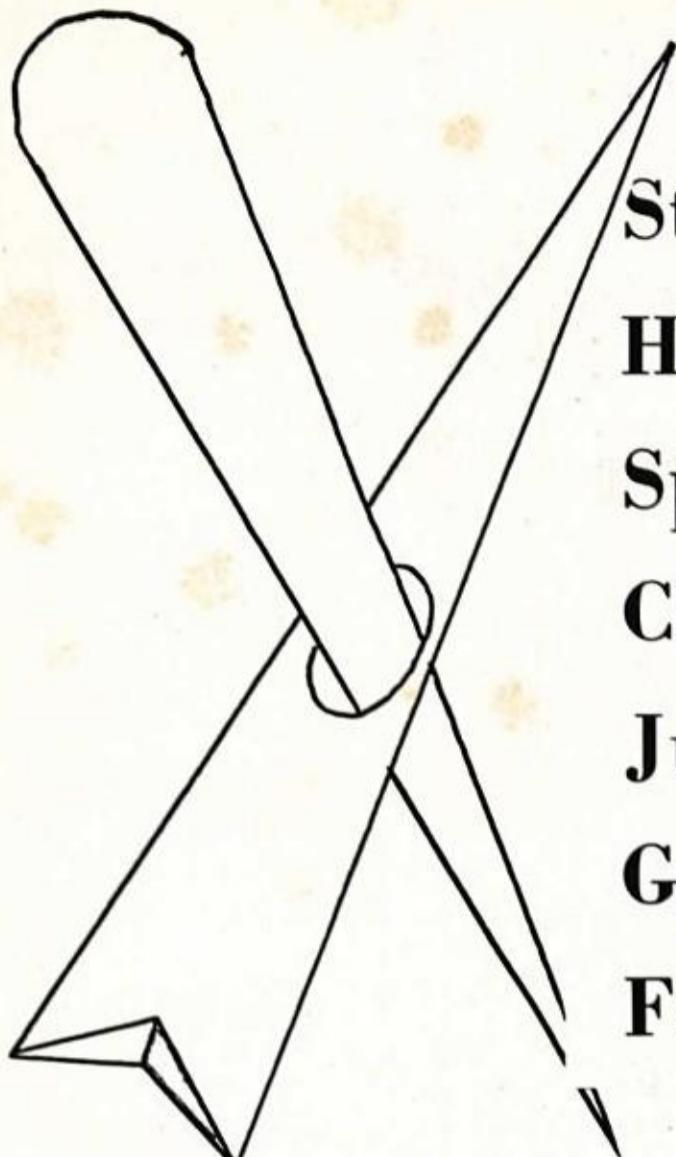

As an educational environment for children, the school does develop an understanding of the rights and obligations of citizens in a democratic society, including acceptance of individual and group responsibilities; obligation to think clearly and to attack problems intelligently; knowledge and application of social courtesies growing from increased awareness of others and consideration for others; interest in and participation in government; habitual and intelligent use of the mass modes of communication; concern for the conservation of natural and human resources; knowledge of how to buy intelligently and how to make wise use of goods and services; knowledge and habits of safety at home, at work, at school, in public places, in streets, and on highways; understanding of the significance of the family and respect for conditions conducive to successful family life; awareness of the social and economic implications of scientific developments; knowledge of vocations which will enable the student to explore his interests, aptitudes and abilities, and to plan for his place in the world of work.

The school does develop personal interests, sensitivity, and enjoyment, including: skills, interests, and abilities in social, cultural, and recreational activities; growth in desirable physical and mental health habits and attitudes; appreciation of literature, art, music, and nature; ability to use leisure time well and to budget it wisely.

It does provide for the continuous growth of the individual in the tools of learning, including: ability to express his thoughts clearly and correctly; ability to concentrate and to use wisely his time for study; ability to read; ability to use source materials and to evaluate information; ability to use number concepts accurately in solving problems; ability to use scientific method in the solutions.

KNOWLEDGE

Every high school class needs a motivating force. Good ideas and concepts are often wasted because of a lack of drive, either in a student or the class as a whole. Adult sponsorship of a class brings out these ideas and shapes them into useful plans. Even in the final stages of carrying out these plans, the sponsors are present, assisting and encouraging.

The Class of 1962 wishes to express its sincere thanks to its sponsors, Mr. Harry Sockler and Mr. Glenn Houck, by dedicating this volume to them. We, the members, are grateful for the time and energy Mr. Houck and Mr. Sockler have unselfishly donated. Their valuable assistance will forever be remembered by each member of the Class of 1962.

STUDENT LIFE

2nd Row: Trevor Toland, Kay Bain, Dan Robbins, Judy Simpson, Jim Larson,

DANCE IS HOMECOMING FINAL COUNT DOWN

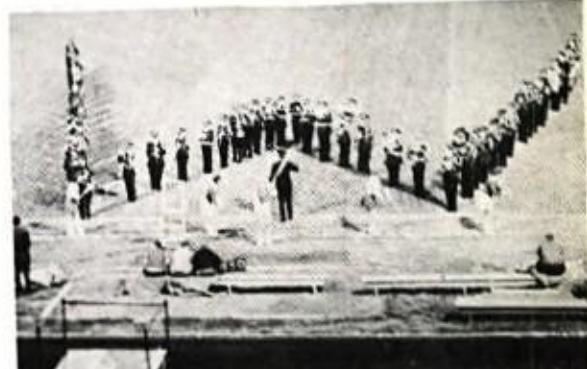

Homecoming countdown started as the student body met in the Western High gym for the pep rally. Since regulations prohibited the bonfire, the cheerleaders built a roaring fire in a wastebasket. With the announcement of royalty and several speeches, homecoming was successfully launched.

The annual Homecoming assembly was held on Friday morning. The main speaker was Dr. Curtis Howd, Principal of Burrus School, Ball State Teacher's College in Muncie, Indiana. Dr. Howd was a member of the honored class of 1925. The class of 1937 was also invited to the Homecoming festivities as the anniversary class. Mr. Waldo Horrabin, Mr. Ray Hanson, Dr. A. L. Knoblauch, Mr. Harry Sockler, and Dr. Rolf Larson took part in the assembly program. The master-of-ceremonies was Trevor Toland, President of the Student Council, which planned the Homecoming activities.

The "Space Age" theme dominated Homecoming festivities. The Senior Class aimed for the moon and "landed" first prize in the parade Friday afternoon.

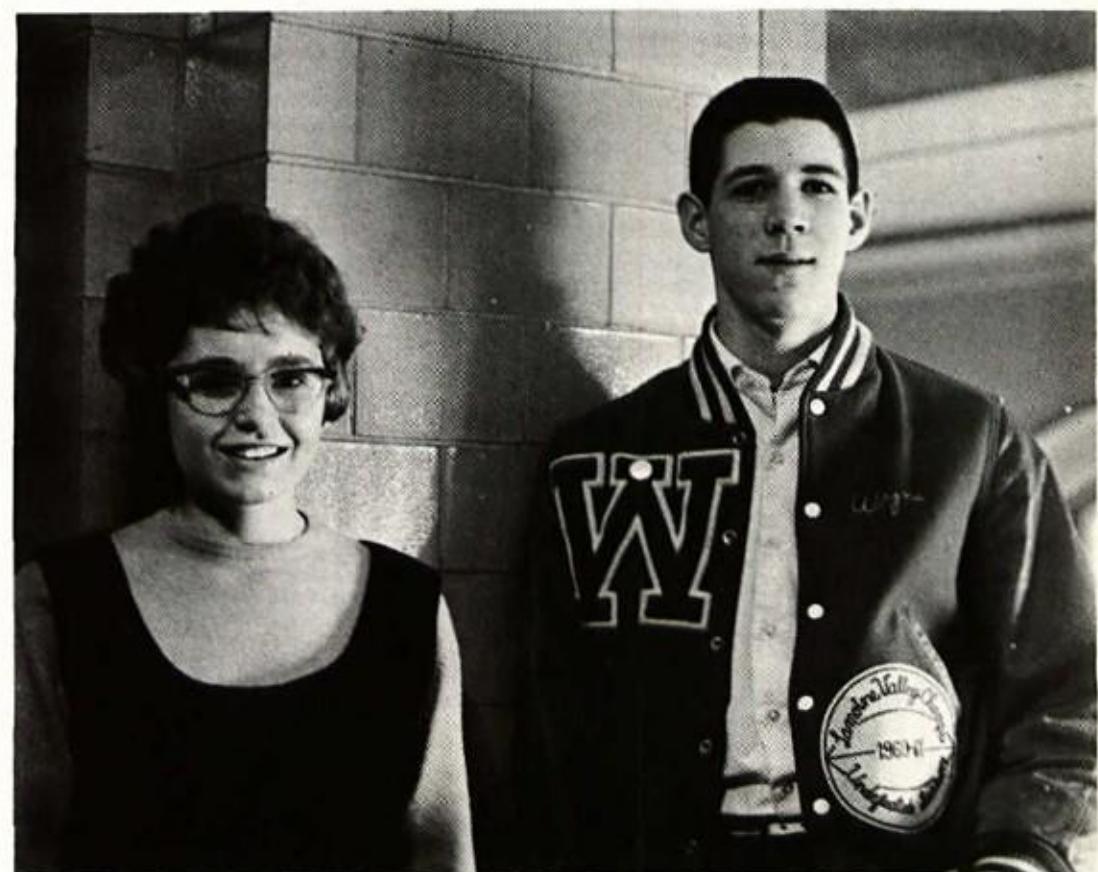

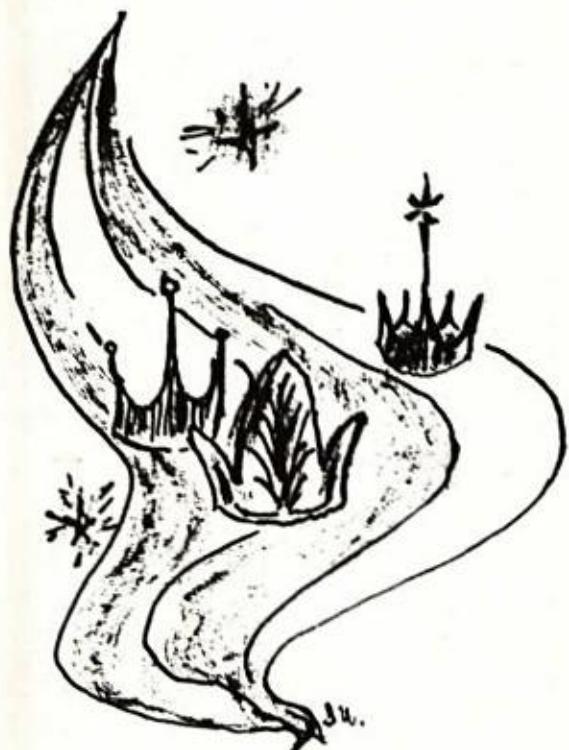

Friday night on the football field, the Western Cards met Hamilton. The band gave a special "space age" program at half-time.

Queen Rita and King Dan led the dancing to the music of Spud Griffith and his orchestra Saturday night in the Student Center Ballroom for the final countdown hours of Homecoming.

At Western High School each student is a king or queen in his own realm. On certain occasions persons are honored to represent the student body. The homecoming royalty were Rita Grate and Dan Caspall who reigned over the 1961 homecoming activities.

Chosen by the student body, Kathy Harris and Wayne Peterson were Western's entries for the March of Dimes queen and king at the county tournament held at Northwestern. In a campaign directed by the Student Council, the school contributed over three hundred dollars to the March of Dimes.

The king and queen for the Junior-Senior Prom, Wayne Peterson and Kay Allen, reigned over a "colonial spring" on May 19, 1962. They were selected by members of the Junior Class.

EPILOGUE STAFF WORKS FOR THE DEADLINE

The work of a yearbook staff begins long before the school year. Much planning and organizing starts the ball rolling down a long path toward its goal—a picture of school life. First, a dummy book is made which gives the staff a plan on which to build their ideas. The photographer now goes to work and for a solid five months he takes pictures of the students at work and at leisure. Each division editor then plans the layout of his pages; that is, he organizes the position of the pictures on the page. The copy staff has been busy writing and is ready to turn in the finished copy. Then comes the endless job of trimming and pasting. Pasting a page straight and in the designated areas is many times the most tedious job to do. Finally the page is ready to be proofread by the various editors. This year much work has been done on preparing an index. Many hours go into perfecting the pages, getting them ready for the final count. Then the staff waits to see their book come to life.

SPOTLIGHT REFLECTS HIGH SCHOOL ACTIVITIES

The Spotlight, Western High's newspaper, reflects the activities, honors and events in which the students participate. The Spotlight is a traditional project of the seniors. It formerly was printed on the college presses, but it is now typed in the high school and published monthly.

MANY STUDENTS JOIN TRI MU IN ITS SECOND YEAR

Membership in Tri-Mu, a reading club sponsored by Miss Mills, soared in its second year. The eighty-seven members were divided into three groups according to the list of books they wanted to read. The three groups met once a month at different times.

Group one, the largest of the three, read and discussed books such as Animal Farm, Kon-Tiki, Diary of a Young Girl, and Mutiny on the Bounty. Mr. Maurice Kellogg was a guest speaker when they discussed Silent World. Among the student leaders for this group were Louise Bolender, Suzanne Butterfield, Dorothy Gingerich, Paul Grindstaff, Sharon Lewis, Kathleen Peterson, Eric Stiffler, and John Watson.

Keys of the Kingdom, Profiles of Courage, Grass Harp, and Mythology were read and enjoyed by group two. Regis Groff, a university student, helped the group discuss Stride Toward Freedom. Sue Stevens, Debbie Ross, Gail Knappenberger, Audre Harris, Janet Newhall, Gary Saunders, Judy Simpson, and Cathy Walpole were among the discussion leaders.

Group three read Cry, the Beloved Country, Crime and Punishment, Rise and Fall of the Third Reich, Story of Philosophy, and other books of a high level of reading. Members of this ambitious group were Marilyn Bolender, Joanne Carr, Dave Crouse, Shirlee Ferguson, Ray Gaetano, Barb Grindstaff, Joanne Jones, Susan Laughlin, Carolyn McVickar, Martha Teel, and Pat Loomer.

INTERNATIONAL UNDERSTANDING LECTURERS PRESENTED AT ASSEMBLIES

Mr. Mang-Pew Lee, Principal of Pui Ching Middle School, Hong Kong, and Mrs. Gazbeya Sidky, Cairo, Egypt, International Lecturers on the campus this year spoke to the students concerning customs in their native countries. Rabbi William Silverman, Kansas City, on campus for the University Religious Emphasis program, addressed the student body of the Laboratory School during Brotherhood Week. The Biology Club, Masquers, Student Council, and Home Economics Department also sponsored programs through the Assembly Committee.

The Boys' Union officers, Bill Covert, Dan Robbins, and Dan Caspall discuss with their adviser Mr. Sockler the agenda for their next meeting.

GIRLS' LEAGUE AND BOYS' UNION OFFICERS SCHEDULE MANY INTERESTING PROGRAMS

Girls' League, the organization to which all Western High School girls belong, was led this year by President Kathy Harris, Vice-president Marilyn Belander, Secretary Audre Harris, and Treasurer Christine Bergstrom. The representatives chosen from each class to membership on the cabinet were Linda Covert and Linda Morgan, freshmen; Suzanne Butterfield and Esther George, sophomores; Sharon Lewis and Janet Newhall, juniors; and Kay Allen and Pat Martin, seniors. The organization was sponsored by Miss Sollars.

During the Christmas season, the girls gave gifts and contributions to the Lincoln State Hospital and the Dixon State Hospital. The annual Mother-Daughter Banquet was held on May 2, 1962, at the Methodist Church, with the Senior girls presenting the program. Entertainment sponsored by the Girls' League included the Egyptian lecturer, Mrs. Sidky, "The Wanderers," and the University minister, Reverend James Barge.

Officers Audre Harris, Leslie Covert, Phyllis Herzog, and Kathy Harris are busy planning for F.H.A. Week.

F.H.A. GIRLS GO CAROLING AT CHRISTMAS

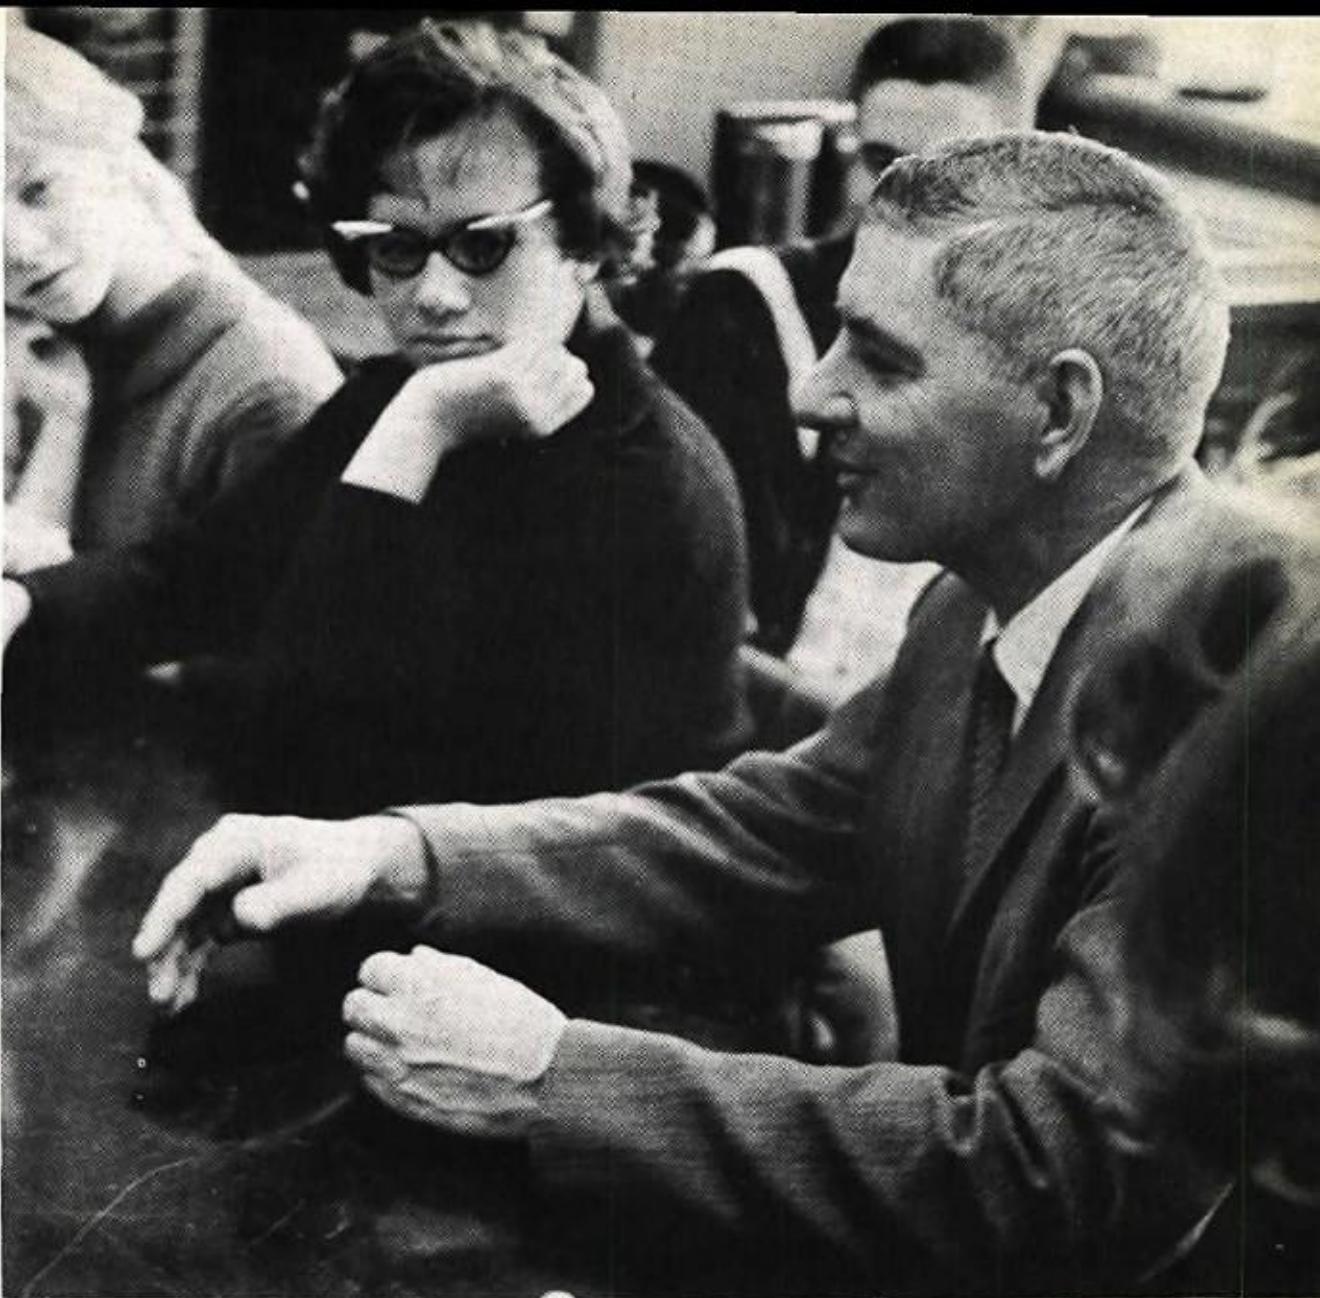

F.H.A. girls had fun while they learned and performed services. They filled Thanksgiving baskets, went caroling, watched a hair-dressing demonstration, learned how to improve their organization, and had a pizza party, a Hobo Day, and a style show. In January, a formal initiation ceremony was held. Several girls attended the rallies and officer's training school.

The officers were Leslie Covert, president; Phyllis Herzog, vice-president; Audre Harris, secretary; Kathy Harris, treasurer; Karen Albee, degree chairman; Sharon Lewis, public relations chairman; Martha Myers, projects chairman; Gloria Hunt, parliamentarian; Janet Tippet, historian; and Margie McGaughey and Nancy Dunsworth, recreation leaders. Mrs. Hiners sponsored the group.

The Biology Club consists of twenty-five high school students who are taking part in Junior Academy of Science projects. The projects were displayed at the District Science Exposition April 28 on the W.I.U. campus. All projects receiving a first place rating advanced to the State Science Exposition held on the University of Illinois campus May 11 and 12.

The Biology Club took a field trip to Chicago where they visited the Museum of Science and Industry and other points of interest.

This year the Biology Club sponsored a speaker for an all-school assembly. He was Dr. S. N. Postlethwait, Associate Professor of Botany and Plant Pathology at Purdue University. Dr. Postlethwait spoke on progress in the next sixty years and also held conferences with individuals and small groups concerning their future in science.

PURDUE PROFESSOR IS GUEST OF BIOLOGY CLUB

The club is sponsored by Mr. Maurice Kellogg.

Mr. Horrabin and Mrs. Wood discuss the daily routine with the office assistants: Marsha Wallen, Sara Swain, Mary Gee, Carol Curtis, Sara Adair, and Jane Bump.

'... of the people, by the people, for the people . . .'

The student council, sponsored by Dr. Hager, had a very successful year with Trevor Toland as president, Wayne Peterson as vice-president, Audre Harris as secretary, and Eric Stiffler as treasurer.

One of the first activities that the student council took responsibility for was the planning of homecoming. Eric Stiffler, Ann Stevens, Janet Newhall, Jim Henderson, Audre Harris, and Dennis Moon were the student council members who represented the school at the Pittsfield Student Council Convention. Representative from Illinois, Paul Findley, spoke at this convention, and district officers were elected.

On April 2 high school cheerleaders were elected by student council and faculty members. Again the council was active in sponsoring the March of Dimes King and Queen candidates from Western at the county basketball tournament. At the final basketball game of the season, parents were the guests of the school and mothers of students were presented with carnations, another activity of the student council. Personality election in February was sponsored by this governing group. Other duties included the usual locker inspection, responsibility for the pop machine and other activities to promote the welfare of the student body.

DEBATE TEAM WINS FIRST PLACE AT SECTIONAL MEET

This year our Debate team challenged Augusta, Illinois, participated in a meet held in Keokuk, Iowa, held several inter-squad debates, and performed for Macomb Rotary Club and speech class. The debate team was composed of Joanne Jones and Stephany Stone, as affirmative debaters, and Eric Stiffler and Chris Potter, as negative debaters. Cathy Walpole debated in Keokuk as an affirmative and kept time at the demonstration debates. Ray Gaetano debated affirmative in the demonstration before the Rotary Club. Mr. Grandgeorge sponsored the debate team with Dave Scheonbacker and Charles Rojiers helping as student teachers.

First Row: Sue Stevens, Cathy Walpole, Debbie Ross, Kathleen Peterson.

Second Row: Jim Turner, Ross Greenleaf, Tom Pennington.

This year Western High was well-represented at speech contests by members of all four classes. Twelve persons entered speaking events and took parts in the play Aria ae Capo. These students participated in the district speech contest at LaHarpe, and six contestants advanced to the sectional contest at Springfield. Tom Pennington received a first place rating at sectional contest qualifying him to advance to the finals in Champaign in April.

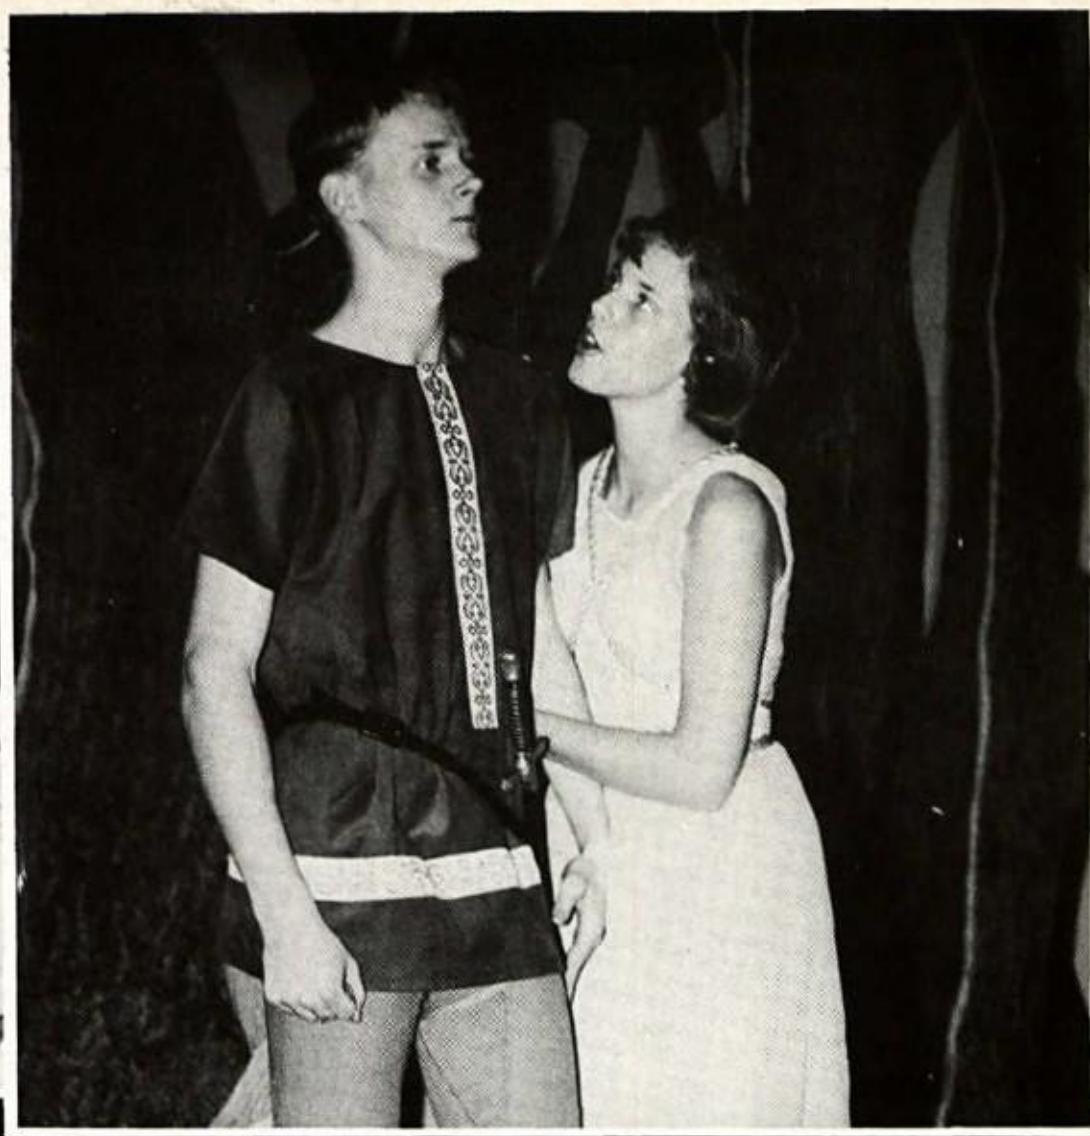

DRAMATICS AND SPEECH ACTIVITIES ARE IMPORTANT EVENTS THROUGHOUT THE YEAR

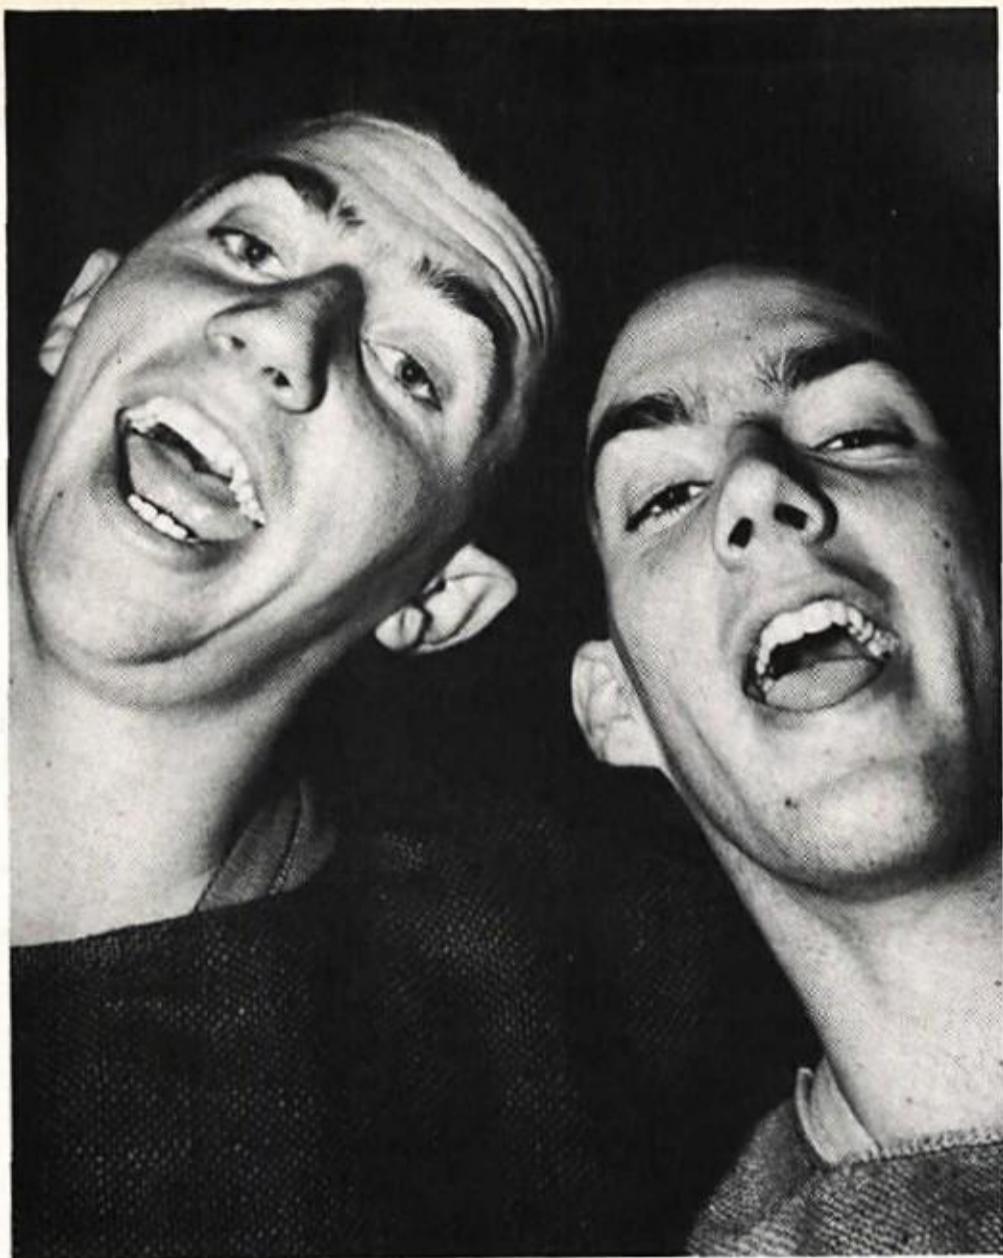

Christine Bergstrom and Cynthia Garrison

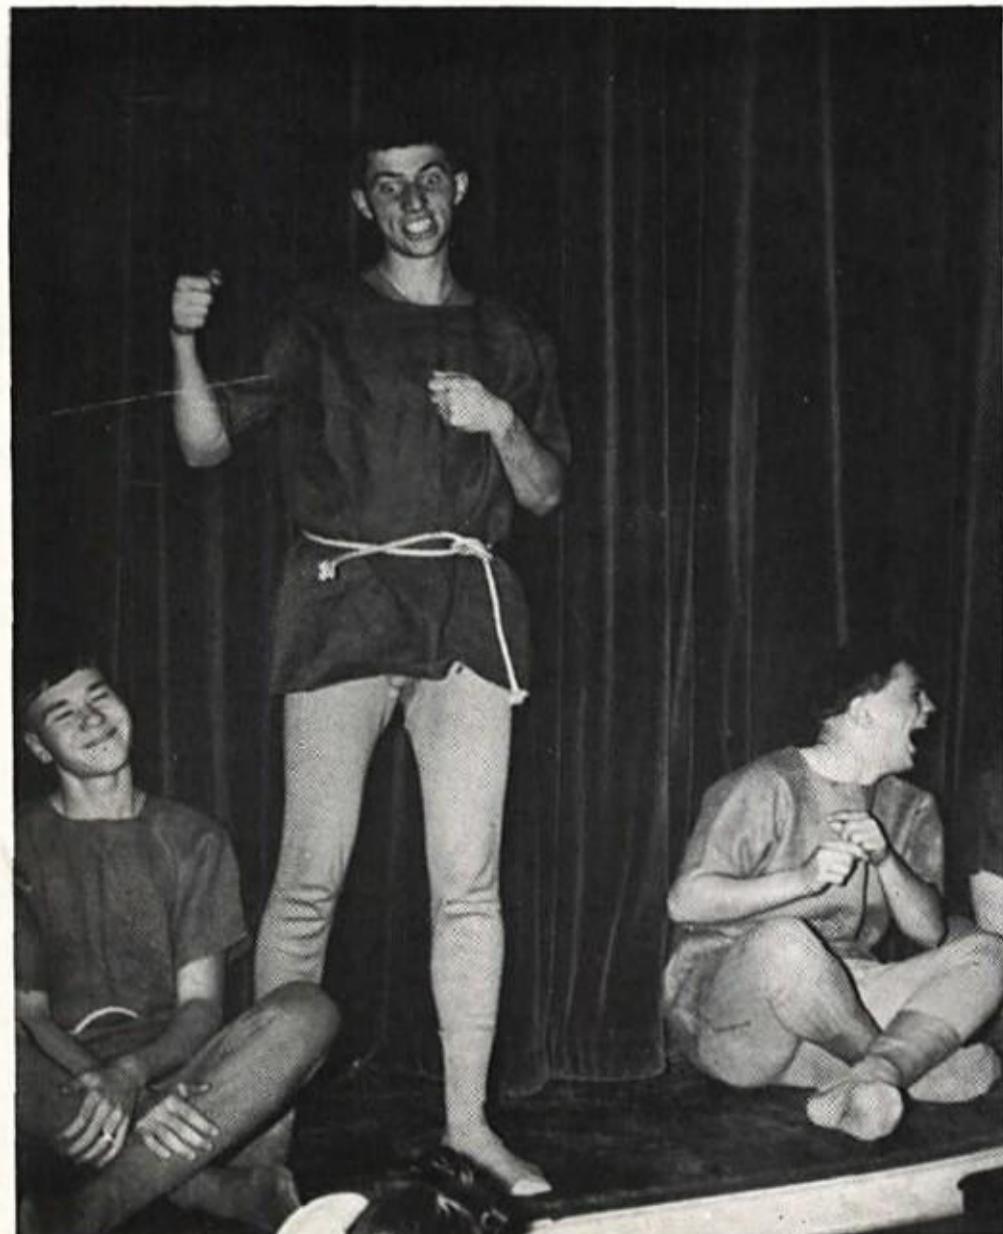

With the combined efforts of Mr. William Grandgeorge directing and Mr. James Paulding conducting the orchestra, the senior class play, A Midsummer's Night Dream was successfully produced on November 8 and 9, 1961. Accompanied by a pit orchestra, the cast, consisting of Calvin Burch, Joanne Jones, Jon Dively, Susanne Butterfield, Linda Cullen, Kathleen Peterson, Mary Gee, Kay Bain, Sally Hoyle, Judy Simpson, Kay Gould, Lindy Baker, Scott Hiners, Paul McKee, Deborah Ross, Dan Caspall, Christopher Strong, Cathy Walpole, Tom Pennington, James Turner, Robert Randolph, Raymond Gaetano, David Guy, Stephen Hunt, Donna Jean Bilderback, Martha Gee, Trevor Toland, Christine Bergstrom, Diana Ausbury, Betty Reid, Nancy Dunsworth, and Sarah Swain performed the ancient bard's romantic comedy.

Among the five plays given this year, was the homecoming play Good Night, Caroline, sponsored by the freshman class. Taking part were Cynthia Garrison, Nancy Bergstrom, Bill Galloway, and Ross Greenleaf. Jim Ashenhurst, Deborah Ross, Robert Randolph, Lindy Baker, and Ray Gaetano had roles in the contest play, Aria de Capo, written by Edna St. Vincent Millay. The Masquers play, Hansel and Gretel, by Lilian and Robert Masters was presented on March 29, 30 and 31. To climax the year, the junior class sponsored The Mikado, by Gilbert and Sullivan, a joint effort of the dramatics and music department.

MUSIC DEPARTMENT HIGHLIGHTS STAGE PRODUCTIONS

The Western High School Music staff consists of Mr. James Paulding, Strings and Choral music, Mr. Paul Potter, Band and Choral music, Dr. Oren Gould, Director of Music Education. The BOCH officers, elected by members of the music organizations, assisted the music instructors in planning the Class B State Contest and the annual banquet and dance.

The orchestra, directed by Mr. Paulding, participated in many activities this year. They performed in the Christmas and Spring Concerts and entered competition in Class B State Contest. Members of the organization played in ensembles for contest and other performances. Also, for the first time, a pit orchestra was organized. It provided music for "A Midsummer Night's Dream" and "Mikado."

The band, composed of high school and junior high members, was directed by Mr. Potter. He was assisted by capable student teachers. The band consisted of three separate divisions. The marching band, with the majorettes, provided a pageant at all the home football games and marched in three parades. The pep band furnished music for the home basketball games and the pep rallies. The concert band played in Class B State Contest and in various concerts.

The three choruses, directed by Mr. Potter and Dr. Gould, presented several concerts during the year and also participated in the Class B Contest in the spring. Solos and ensembles represented the school at both district and state Contests. The chorus cooperated with the Dramatics Department in producing the "Mikado" Western High's first musical comedy.

Members from all three organizations participated in various public appearances in the Macomb area.

 JUNIOR PENNY CARNIVAL

SHOPPE

The annual Junior Penny Carnival provided entertainment for both young and old. The evening's activities began in the Little Theatre with the floor show introduced by Larry Fritschel. The Junior Class demonstrated a variety of talent in acting, dancing, and singing. Among the acts were vocal solos by Patty Loomer and Monty Wyne; Little Egypt; "Twas a Dark and Stormy Night," a monologue by Betty Mercer; a soft shoe number; three honorable historians, and a finale by Mitch Nester and chorus. The highlight of the evening was the style show, described by Christine Bergstrom, Joanne Jones and Kathy Conrey.

With the conclusion of the floor show, everyone was invited to attend the carnival which was held in the Big Gym. Various games and booths filled the gym and supplied amusement for all. Among these were the "Nic-Nac" Shoppe, Penny Toss, Dart Throw, Cake Walk, Fortune Telling Booth, and bicycle races.

JUNIOR PENNY CARNIVAL 'EMCEE'D' BY LARRY FRITSCHEL

LOOKING BACK.

Early in September of 1958, a crowd of freshmen on record stormed the gates of Western and went through all the usual experiences of first year students including being awed by upper-classmen. They soon became inured and seemed to infiltrate three-fourths of every school function. These green freshmen have safely run the gamut of grades, study halls, and extra-curricular activities, and now without reticence boastingly admit that they are without a doubt the most outstanding and important class ever to be graduated from Western High.

June 25, 1950	War broke out in Korea.
September 6, 1950	Class of '62 began the long journey forward.
October 20, 1950	"Nibbles," the guinea pig, joined the class and became a fond friend of all.
April 12, 1952	The class visited the College Farm and also made butter as a class project.
November 4, 1952	Dwight D. Eisenhower elected President.
March 16, 1953	As third graders, the class of '62 visited the fire station.
April 12, 1955	Jonas Salk announced polio vaccine.
July 10, 1956	The class went on a 2-day camping trip to Horrabin's farm.
June 12, 1957	Mayflower II was completed.
August 4, 1957	Russia launched first earth satellite—Sputnik I.
May 14, 1958	As eighth graders, the class visited the state capitol at Springfield.
July 10, 1958	The class of '62 presented Aladdin and His Magic Lamp .
August 21, 1959	Hawaii was made the 50th state.
September 15, 1959	Krushchev visited the United States.
November 8, 1960	John F. Kennedy elected President.
September 18, 1961	Dag Hammarskjold killed in plane crash.
December 30, 1961	Western High won the Holiday Tournament.
February 20, 1962	Glenn made successful orbital flight.
May 19, 1962	Seniors were honored at the Junior-Senior Prom.
May 29, 1962	The class of 1962 graduated.

What experiences will the first graders of 1962 have as they begin their long climb to the high school diploma? May their years be as vital, as challenging, and as wonderful as the past twelve years have been for the seniors of 1962.

HONORE

Each year the student body selects six students for personality characteristics. The various classes choose two girls and two boys to represent them in the election. Personality winners for this year were Wayne Peterson, Gail Knappenberger, Joe McLaughlin, Debbie Ross, Audre Harris, and Kathy Harris.

Chosen from Macomb by the I.O.O.F., John Watson will travel to New York to a seminar at the United Nations on world understanding. The three-week trip will also include a tour of Washington, D.C.

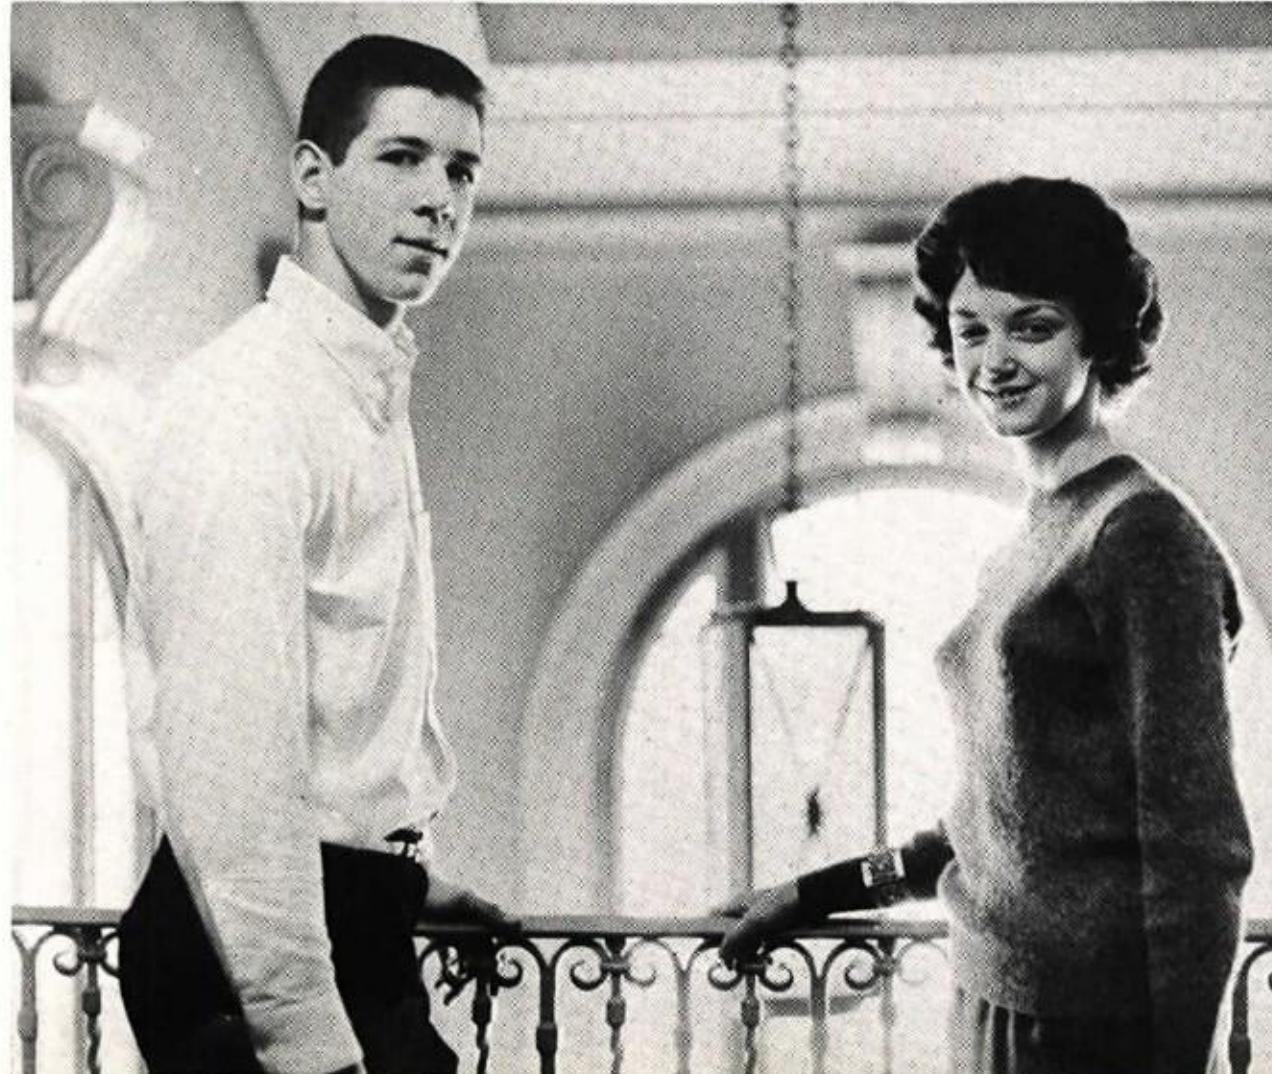

Randy Perry joined Monty Wyne and Kent Kowal in Eagle Scouts this year.

Many students of Western High bring honors through scholarships and various activities to the entire student body. Karen Albee journeyed to Chicago in the spring to the state Vogue sewing contest to model the dress and coat which she had made. The contest was sponsored by the Macomb Women's Club.

Selected by class members and the faculty, Kathy Harris and Wayne Peterson received the D.A.R. and S.A.R. award respectively. These awards are presented annually to two deserving members of the senior class.

The Babe Ruth Award is given annually to the two senior students who have displayed good citizenship. Chosen by the faculty, the students for this year are Phyllis Herzog and Wayne Peterson.

NATIONAL

NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY COMES TO WESTERN

The Sophia Charter of the National Honor Society was received at Western High in May, 1961, and the first initiation was held in December, 1961. The initiates were Lyle Baumgartner, David Crouse, Phyllis Herzog, Susan Laughlin, Carolyn McVickar, Wayne Peterson, and Casey Strong. The initiation ceremony was performed by members of the National Honor Society of Galesburg High School.

The Sophia Chapter considers candidates for admission if they have a grade point average of 3.5 and if they meet the four qualifying traits: character, leadership, scholarship, and service. The Society looks upon education as a total product of life measured by these four dimensions.

No honor conferred by any school excels that represented by the National Honor Society. It represents the fundamental objectives of a school and gives recognition to those who have attained the desired goals. The National Honor Society was organized in 1921. Until then there were only honor rolls, special privileges, school awards, and valedictory and salutatory addresses at graduation. There was no recognized national academic standard for secondary schools. The organization was developed to improve scholarship and to place academic work in its proper place in the estimation of society.

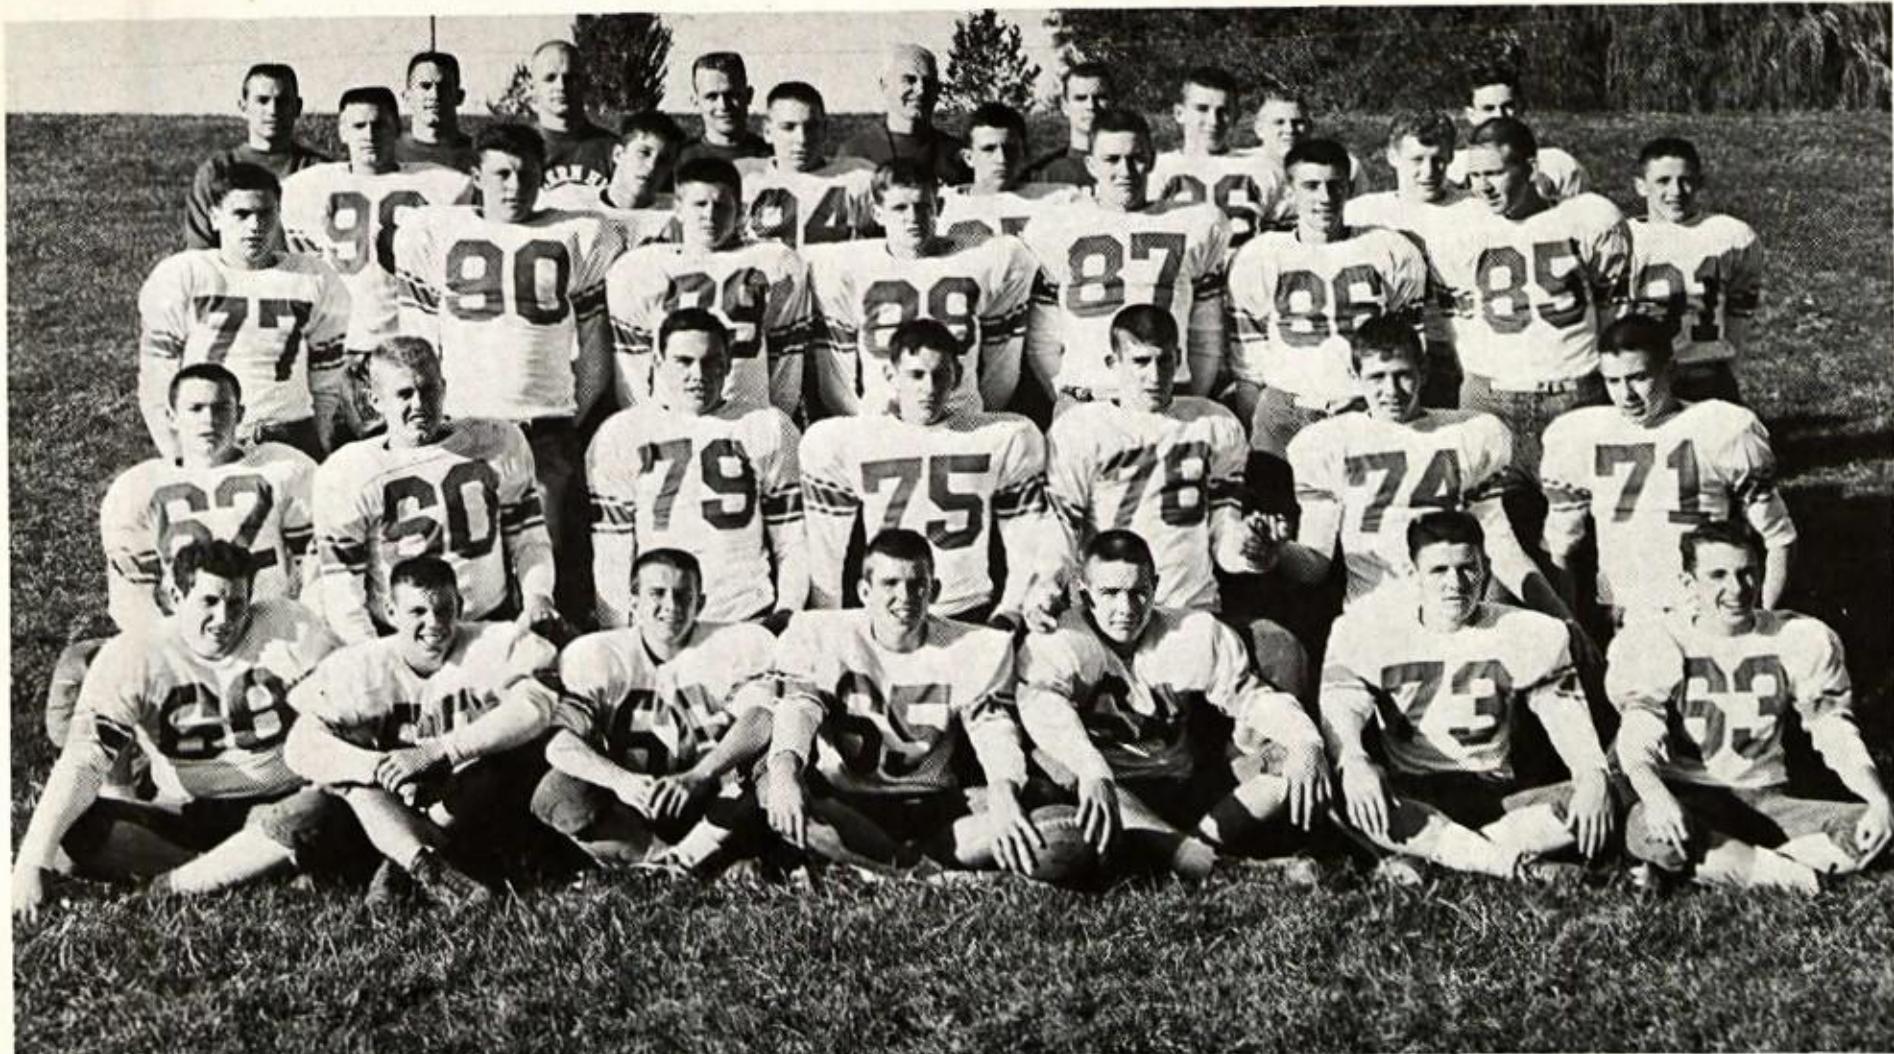

Casey Strong was elected President of the Sophia Chapter; Lyle Baumgartner, Vice-President; Carolyn McVickar, Secretary; and David Crouse, Treasurer. Chapters of the National Honor Society sponsor activities of service to their schools. Various special assemblies may be held such as a first-semester welcome and an honors assembly.

The nomination committee of Sophia Chapter is composed of Dr. Wiggins, Miss Sollars, Mr. Taylor, Mr. Houck, Mrs. Stiffler, Miss Buckley, and Miss Mills, who recommend candidates for membership. These students are then voted upon by the entire faculty. The student body takes no part in the election of members.

The story of the Western High football season can be explained by the fact that the players were young and inexperienced. Six sophomores and five juniors were pushed into starting roles. As the season progressed, the players made mistakes and corrected them. With four wins and four losses the cards still produced a respectable season.

Seven seniors ended their gridiron career at Western High as regulars during the 1961 season. Captain Dan Caspall played center and linebacker. Pat Tharp and Steve Hunt played tackle. Dave Crouse and Dan Robbins were at the halfback spots. Linebacker Tom Hammond and end Bill Covert rounded out the senior's roster. Dan Caspall was voted as Western's Most Valuable, and Steve Hunt was named Most Improved at the Annual Football Banquet.

Western High's success in football comes from a combination of factors. There is a lot more to football than showing up on the field on a Friday night. Football at Western is much more than this.

In Harry Sockler, the Cards have what is possibly the best coach in the entire state of Illinois. Under his guidance, and that of the assistant coaches, Western High football, winning football, has become a tradition.

Practice is another factor which leads to Western High victories. Practices of two and one-half hours are the rule rather than the exception. Practice, at times, seems so hard that the games should be a relief. Football practice is work; it is not a game. The game is on Friday night, and, then, the practice pays its dividends.

On Friday night, any time a player is off the field, he becomes a part of the bench. Whether he is a regular just catching his breath or a scrub waiting for his chance, he is rooting and cheering for his teammates on the field. Backing his teammates is an important contribution from the man on the bench.

A cheering crowd, led by cheerleaders, is also important to the boys on the field. The players can't hear what is said, but they can distinguish the lack of noise. The cheerleaders and the crowd do their very best to keep up a running supply of enthusiasm. This enthusiasm is often converted into energy on the football field.

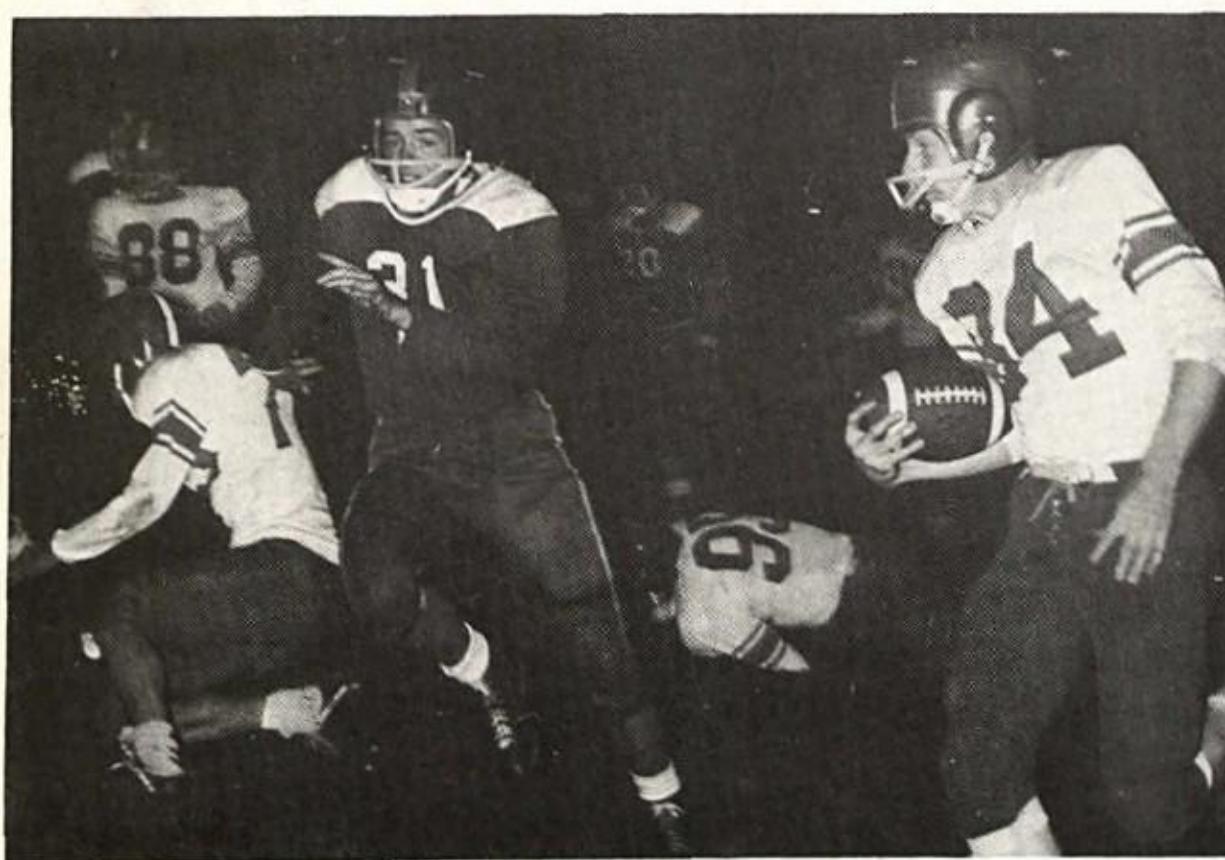

Football is basically a game of tackling, blocking, passing, running, and catching, but far more is needed for successful football. When the best of cheerleaders, fans, coaches, and players are molded into a unit, winning football is created.

HOHMAN'S CARDS COMPILE 24-4 RECORD

The Western High Cardinals made the 1961-62 basketball season its most productive in a decade. While compiling a 24-4 record, the Cards won the Invitational Tournament, won the Stronghurst District Tournament, and tied for the championship of the Lamoine Valley Conference. All-stater Trev Toland won the MVP trophy of the Invitational Tournament for the second year in a row. Senior Wayne Peterson, the floor general of the team, was very valuable both as a player and a leader. Juniors Gail Knappenberger and Chuck Wanninger, with Soph Joe McLaughlin, completed the starting unit. Filling in capably for the regulars, Steve Nester and John Watson were awarded letters. Sophomores Mike Glaza, Tim Logsdon, Greg McGann, Fred Adair, and Ron Riggins completed the varsity squad.

LARRY BRADLEY CAPTAINS SWIM TEAM

Captain Larry Bradley, Tom Hammond, and diver Jim Henderson led the swimming team to a creditable showing. Under the coaching of George Campbell, the swimming team competed against schools of much larger enrollment. Through practice, the inexperienced team improved with each meet. In its third year of existence, the Western High swimming team was a credit to the school.

WORK OUT

GAA OFFICERS PLAN ACTION

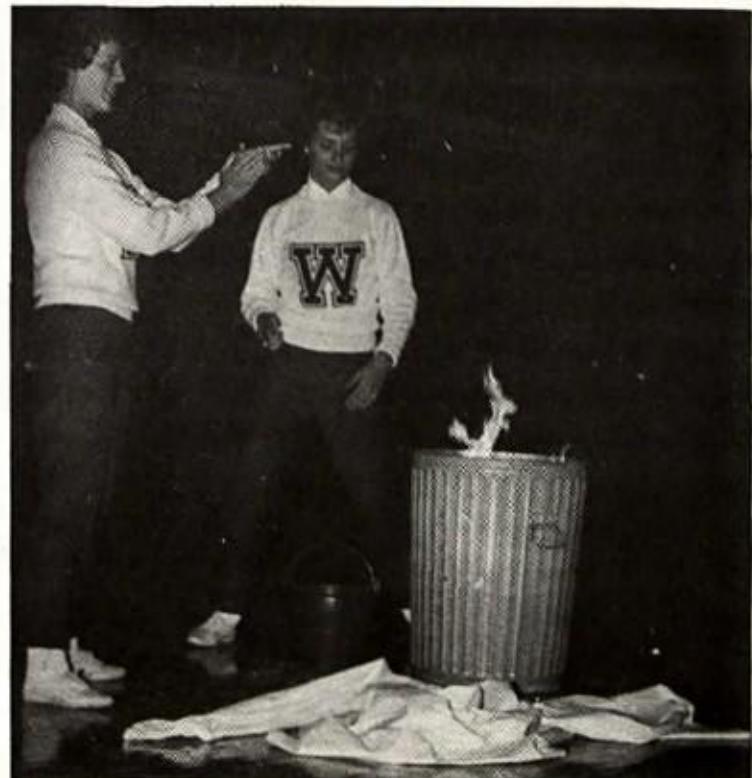

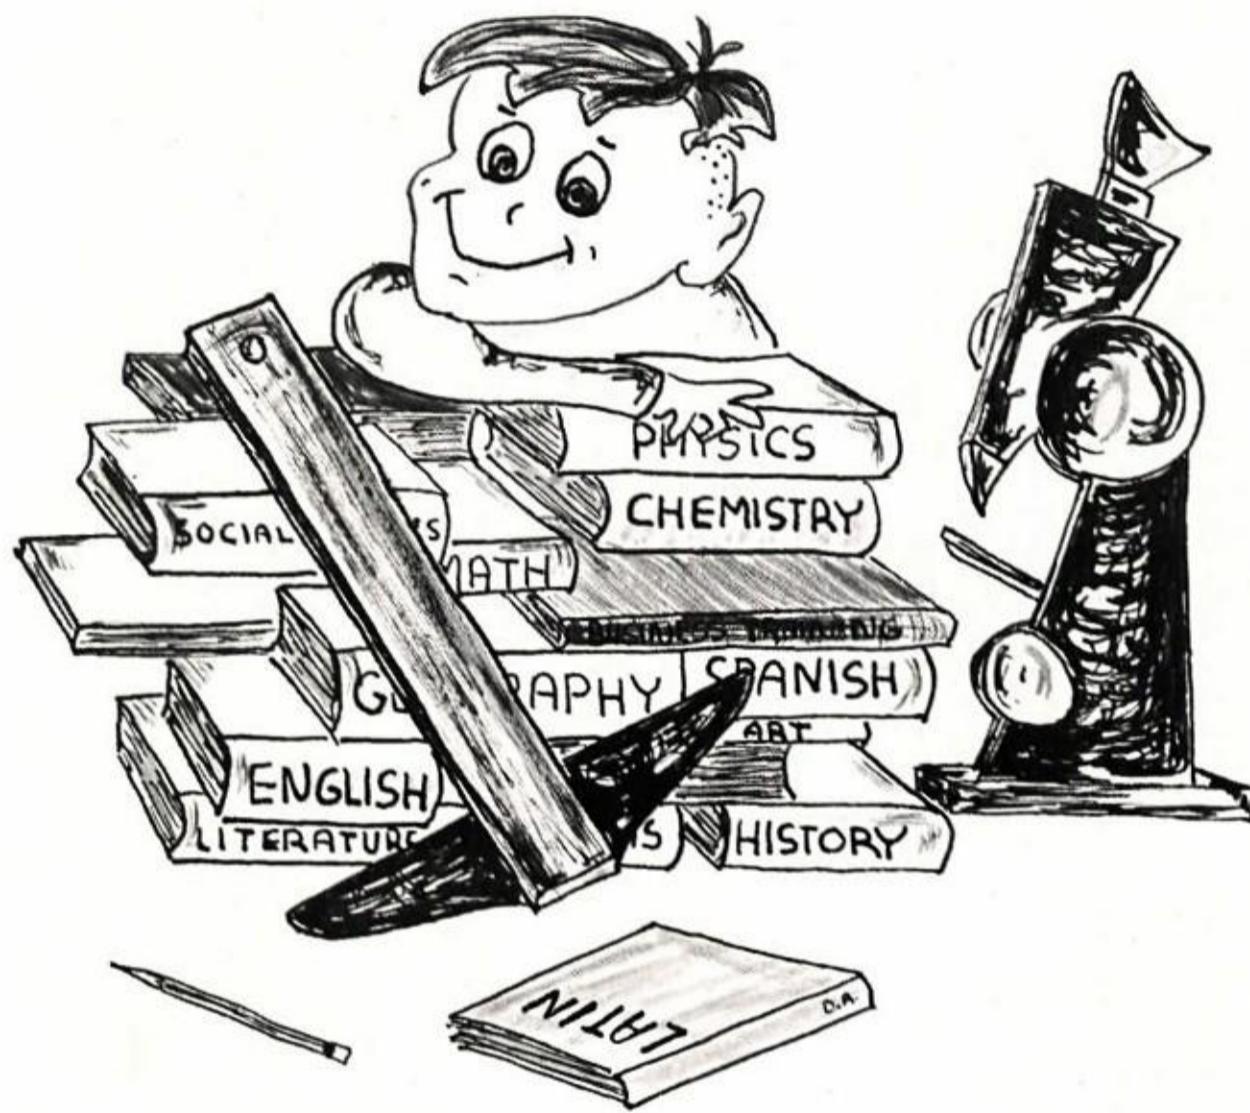

The GAA girls met every Tuesday afternoon for recreation. The girls participated in such events as basketball, volleyball and field hockey. Officers for the year were Betty Mercer, president; Karen Franklin, vice-president; Margie McGaughey, treasurer; and Donna Bilderback, secretary. Miss Gray was the sponsor.

CHEERLEADERS SPARK SCHOOL SPIRIT

CLASSES

SENIORS LOOK AHEAD TO THE FUTURE

The last year of "the Senior" is filled with joy as he thinks of his happy experiences and high school friends, but his joy is tinged with regret as he thinks of how short one year can be. He feels that all of his strivings have not been in vain because the names of the members of his class have made permanent places in Western High's life and memories.

The seniors, sponsored by Mr. Harry Sockler and Mr. Glenn Houck, had a busy year filled with many varied activities. Wayne Peterson, president; Ray Gaetano, vice-president; Rita Grate, secretary; and Kathy Harris, treasurer, led the class of '62.

One of their first projects was sponsoring A Midsummer's Night Dream, an all-school production in which seniors participated. Sales of candy and doughnuts, a chili supper, and rummage sales were planned. Much hard work went into the concessions for the holiday and sectional tournaments. On February 17, they sponsored a dance featuring "The Wanderers." A twist contest carried out the theme of the Peppermint Lounge.

Each year two candidates are selected from the senior class to represent the school at the County Tournament where contributions for the March of Dimes are collected. Supporting King candidate, Wayne Peterson, and Queen candidate, Kathy Harris, Western High contributed much to the funds.

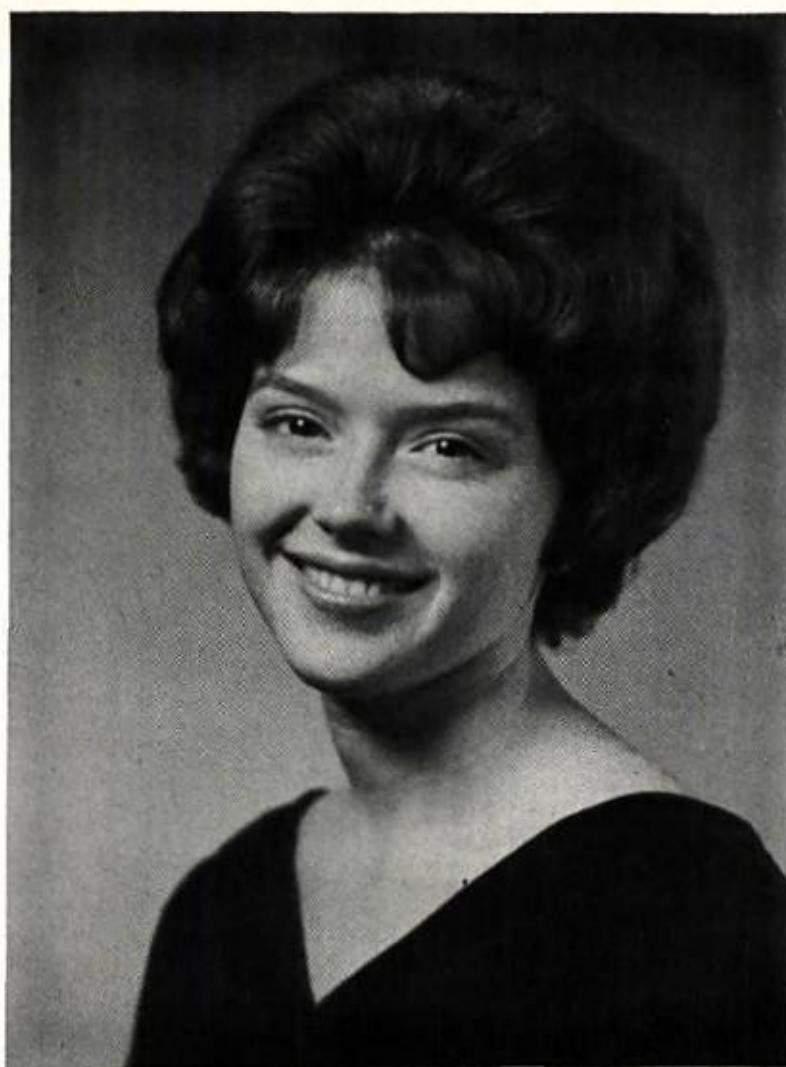

The class of '62 presented, as a farewell gift to the school, a new trophy to be presented to the "Most Valuable Player" at the Holiday Tournaments. The class was honored to have one of its members, Trevor Toland, receive the award for the second year.

During homeroom period, the seniors were busy with not only this year's activities but also preparing themselves for their various plans after graduation. Dr. Wayne Wiggins with the class sponsors assisted the class in this important undertaking.

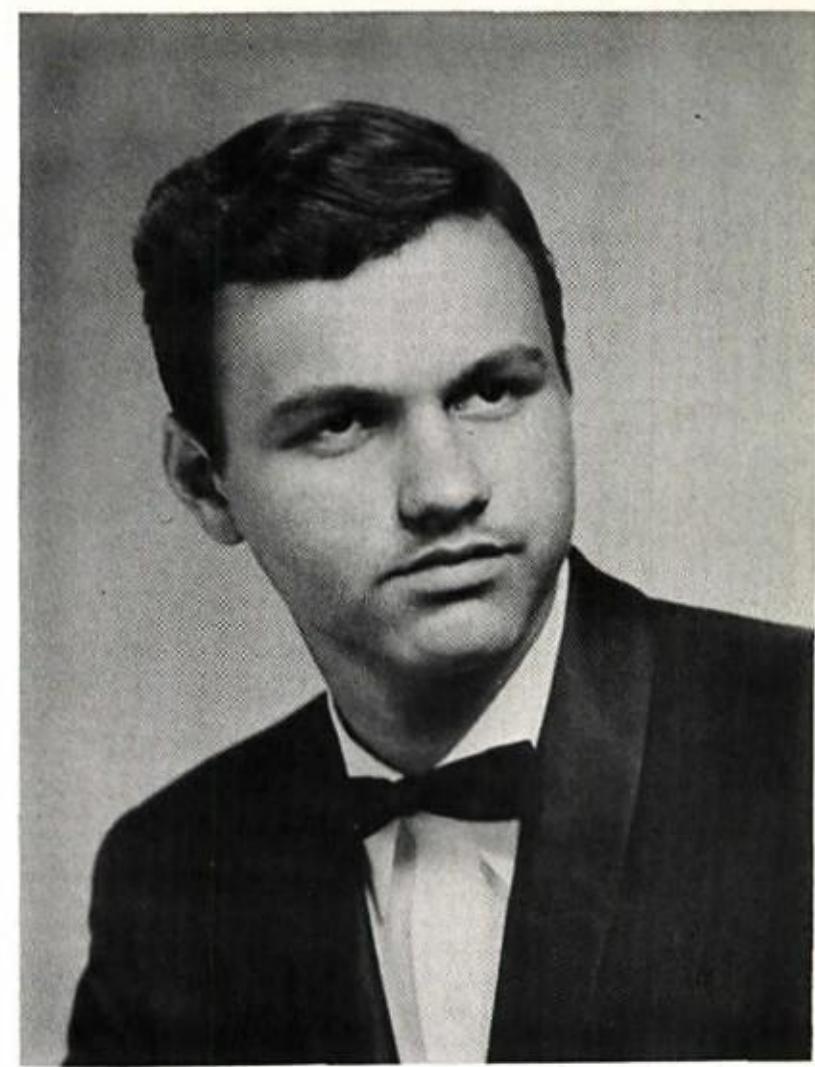

In May, with Janet Kraushaar as chairman of planning, the class traveled to Chicago. The Museum of Science and Industry, the Museum of Natural History, Skid Row, Maxwell Street and Navy Pier were among the highlights of the trip.

On May 29, Dr. Wiggins gave a very inspiring speech to 56 graduates awaiting their high school diploma. Soon these graduates became known as one of the many alumni of Western High.

This ended a busy year for the class of '62. However, it also was the beginning of a new and exciting adventure as "the senior" took his individual path into the future.

JUNIOR PROJECTS INCLUDE A CLASS PLAY AND THE JUNIOR-SENIOR PROM.

The Junior Class enjoyed a very busy and profitable school year. The class of 49 students welcomed two new members, Betty Dorothy and Georgia Gaffey. Class officers for the year were: Gail Knappenberger, president; Debbie Ross, vice-president; Janet Newhall, secretary; and Mary Ellen Rockwell, treasurer. Janet Newhall, Gail Knappenberger and Dan Curtis served as Student Council representatives.

The first of two goals of the class for the 1961-62 year was the study of social conduct. Short talks on this subject were given by guest speakers, and groups of class members held panel discussions. Through a research of social behavior, the Juniors obtained a valuable understanding of a subject important to them. The second class goal was the investigation of colleges, trade schools and fields of work. Adults representing various occupations were invited to the class, giving students practical ideas of their career choices.

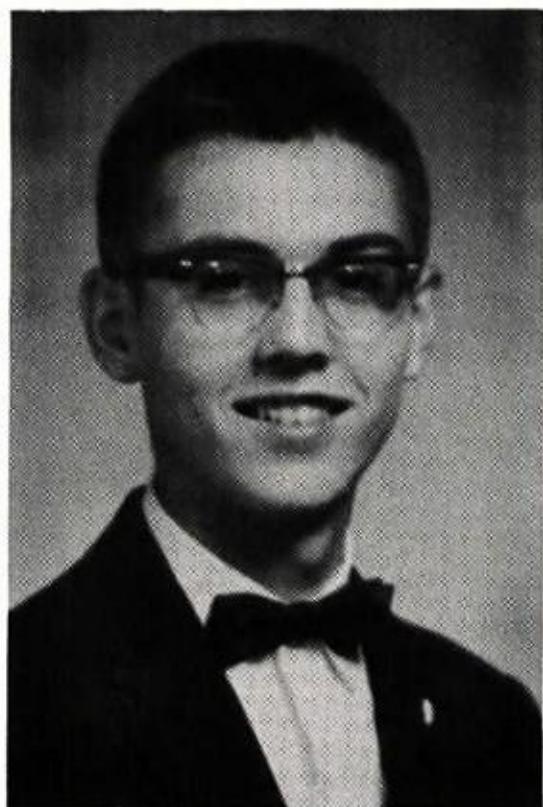

A committee of students planned with the sponsors the weekly program of homeroom activities. Each Monday homeroom was reserved for committee meetings. Tuesdays were devoted to class meetings. Wednesday was the program day of the week. Organization meetings were held on Thursdays. Fridays were the days for pep assemblies and programs. During the Tuesday class meetings the Juniors often planned profit-making projects, some of which were sales of candy, baked goods and magazines. Proceeds of these projects were added to a class fund reserved for the 1963 class trip.

The year was high-lighted by Homecoming in the fall, the Junior Penny Carnival in the winter, the Junior Class Play and the Junior-Senior Prom in the spring. Juniors enjoyed preparing and presenting a very successful Penny Carnival. The spring Prom, sponsored by the Junior Class, was attended and enjoyed by many people. Two Senior students, selected by the Juniors, reigned as Prom King and Queen. The all-night Prom festivities were a happy "Good-bye to high school" for the Senior Class.

The school year was a busy one for all of Western's organizations and for their Junior members. Juniors were prominent in many sports such as football, basketball, track, swimming, golf, and tennis. Three Junior girls, Sue Stevens, Betty Mercer, and Debbie Ross, were elected varsity cheerleaders. The Class was well represented in other organizations such as G.A.A., Debate, F.H.A., Yearbook Staff, Masquers, BOCH, Reading Club, Boys Union, and Girls League. Leslie Covert was president of the F.H.A. Gail Knappenberger served as president and Martha Jenkins as secretary of the BOCH. Dan Curtis was the Biology Club president while Joanne Jones served as president of the Library Assistants organization. Cathy Walpole and Joanne Jones were members of the Debate team and Dan Rebman was president of the Latin Club. Betty Mercer was an officer of the National Thespian Society. Other Juniors served as valuable members of these organizations. Mr. Howard Hohman and Mrs. Beth Stiffler served as class sponsors.

SPEAKERS HIGHLIGHT HOMEROOM PROGRAM

Fifty-four members made up the Class of '64. Four new students, David Viar, Scott Hinners, Robert Mangle and Linda Cullen were welcomed into the class in the fall. Mary Lou Dains, who had been a member of the class since kindergarten, moved to Scottsdale, Arizona, and Larry Olson, who came to Western in the eighth grade, moved to Eau Claire, Wisconsin.

The sponsors for the class are Miss Mills and Mr. Carter. They attended all class meetings and helped supervise all class projects. The goals set by the sophomore class to reach during the year were that each member of the class learn something about himself, his place in school and in the larger community, his goals and the possibility of achieving them. These goals were discussed and each worked upon in homeroom, directly or indirectly.

Tuesday and Thursday highlighted the homeroom program every week. Class-meetings, which were held on Tuesdays, were important to every class member. Jim Henderson presided as president. Cathy Sypherd, vice-president, Diana Wilson, secretary, and Paula Spahr, treasurer, were the other class officers. A film of current events was shown every Thursday. The important news was evaluated and discussed. Several times guest speakers were asked to talk to the class. Jane Fuller, a student at the University, spoke of her trip to the United Nations to hear and meet the Prime Minister of India. Dr. Wiggins spoke about the opportunities and honors that could come to a person who took an interest in being a good student. Dr. Hager spoke about the beliefs of the political parties.

Many honors have been bestowed upon this class. In sports, John Watson lettered his second year in football. Joe McLaughlin, Tim Logsdon, Robert Mangle, Greg McGann, Ron Riggins, Jim Henderson and Dan Crabb earned their first-year letter in football and played first string. John Watson, Ron Riggins, Tim Logsdon, Greg McGann, Mike Glaza and Fred Adair were members of the basketball team. Jim Henderson and David Viar represented the class on the swimming team. Betty Reid, Kay Gould and Linda Cullen had parts in the Senior class play, A Midsummer Night's Dream. In the contest play Jim Ashenhurst played one of the leading roles.

The first project of the year was making a float. The slogan it bore was "Western's Victory Will Echo Through Lamoine Valley." The float won third prize in the Homecoming Parade. At Christmas the class decorated coffee cans and filled them with candy. Pencils and pennants with the school colors and name were sold to the student body. Western High stationery was also sold.

Several lucky people did extensive traveling this year. Karen Olsen and Linda Williams toured Europe. Jim Ashenhurst visited in England, and Suzanne Butterfield lived in Florida for several months.

THIRTEEN MEMBERS ADDED TO FRESHMAN CLASS

The Freshman Class sponsored by Miss Gray and Mr. Harding was very busy with the activities that took place during its freshman year. The class lost three of its members: Rhonda Morgan, Becky Reedy and Dan Dains, but added thirteen new students.

Initiation was the main activity of the year. On initiation day the members of the class dressed in clothes that didn't match and wore everything wrong side out and backwards for the morning. Each freshman had his master to whom he was a slave. At the initiation dance that night the freshmen presented a skit.

Among the many money-making projects were bake sales, concessions, sales of Western High School booster buttons and sweatshirts. The class also picked up corn one Saturday and put this money in the fund for their class trip during their senior year.

In homeroom period on Mondays and Wednesdays the class had movies and speakers. On Tuesdays and Thursdays they had a class meeting in which they discussed their money-making projects. Fridays were left open for pep meetings and study periods.

The class was represented on the Student Council by Ann Stevens, Dennis Moon, and Eric Stiffler. Eric Stiffler was elected treasurer of the student council which was quite an honor for him and for our freshman class.

Each member of the class took part in many of the school's activities. The boys in the freshman class were very sports-minded. Nine went out for football and twelve went out for basketball. Other class members participated in swimming, track, baseball and golf. Sports were not our only activity field. Kathleen Peterson, Ross Greenleaf, and Cynthia Garrison participated in speech contest where all received high ratings. Melanie Dively and Cheryl Bain were Junior Varsity Cheerleaders.

During the fall, many of the girls were Cardettes with the school's marching band. They worked hard in preparing routines for the half time performances of the football games and in marching routines for the parades.

The freshman also participated in an experimental speed reading group which took place during the fall and winter quarters.

EIGHTH GRADE TRAVELED TO SPRINGFIELD IN MAY

The eighth grade was very busy this year with school activities. In September their float placed in the homecoming parade. The class sponsored two dances, one of which was a costume party. Some of the pupils were members of the astronomy club and others worked on the school paper, The Western Star an eighth grade project in English class. The class trip to Springfield was taken in May as part of the study of the life of Abraham Lincoln.

Concessions were held at the junior high sports events, and the class participated in music and art activities.

The eighth grade was sponsored by Mr. Kellogg and Mr. Deeds.

SEVENTH GRADE SPONSORED ANNUAL CLOTHING DRIVE

The Seventh Grade Class sponsored by Mrs. Burgard participated in many worthwhile activities during the year. In September they entered a float in the homecoming parade. At Christmas a tea was given for the pupils, their teachers, and their parents. In February they held a Valentine Dance at which the eighth grade students were guests.

Their biggest project of the year was the annual clothing drive. Thirteen hundred pounds of clothing donated by grades 1-12 was sent to a charity.

The boys made a good showing in their sports activities, and both boys and girls participated in music. To close the school year, the class took a trip to Hannibal, Missouri, as part of their study of literature.

Ellen Garrison and Ruth Krong.

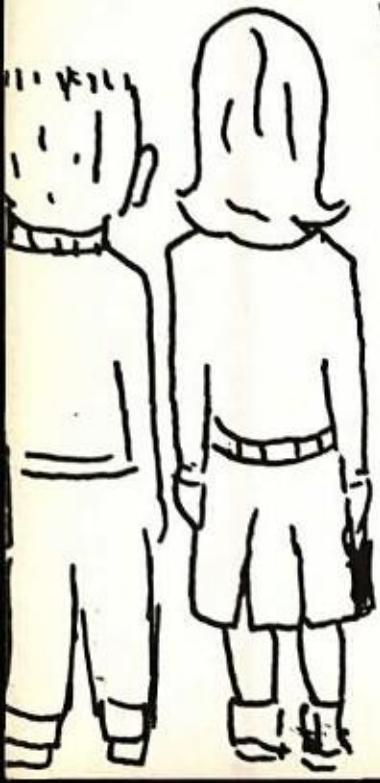

Steve Larson and Jeff Carson.

The chorus directed by Mr. Paulding, was made up of both boys and girls this year.

The junior-high orchestra directed by Mr. Paulding won a first place rating in the state contest.

SIXTH GRADERS SPONSOR UNICEF DRIVE

Miss Helen Hoing and Miss Alberta Flynn teach the children of the sixth grade. Both teachers have had extensive teaching experiences in the elementary grades.

The class participated in the Education 201 program this year. Case studies were conducted on the children. Many senior high school students have asked to do student teaching in the sixth grade. This project has been undertaken for several years. Besides these activities, the class sponsored UNICEF.

The children studied reading, social studies (concerning Latin America) and arithmetic. On Friday they have a current events news strip in connection with Junior Scholastic Magazine.

The sixth grade took many trips around the campus. These aided in their science studies. They also have a mobile unit, complete with many science tools. Through experiments with this, the children learned by actual observation and experience.

Through a well-balanced program of studies, the sixth grade was kept busy learning about the world around them.

ARITHMETIC CLASS STUDIES BY TELEVISION

The fifth grade under the direction of Mr. Bruce Vennard and Mr. John Christoffersen studied Spanish, social studies, English, reading, handwriting, science, and arithmetic. Sixteen members of the class participated in Education 201. Those children not taking Spanish studied typing for 2 quarters. The children used closed circuit television in connection with their study of arithmetic. The students traveled to New Salem after studying the Civil War. While at New Salem, information was gathered to be used in making maps and constructing the village of pretzels and cardboard. During summer school the 5th graders will take their first overnight camping trip.

CAMPING TRIP AND VISIT TO DICKSON MOUNDS HIGHLIGHT THE YEAR

The fourth grade had an exciting year. The subjects studied were spelling, reading, science, art, social studies, Spanish, arithmetic, music, and physical education. The class also took a course, once a week, called the School Mathematics Study Group, taught by Dr. Joseph Stipanowich, Professor of Mathematics, at the University.

The children participated in many activities, giving money to Care, contributing to UNICEF, and giving clothing to the clothing drive, sponsored by the seventh grade, and a Valentine party. They also joined the Arrow Book Club.

The children went to Dickson Mounds and will participate in camping during the summer quarter.

Miss Rowena Hipple, who has been teaching at Western for five years, and Mr. Roy Grindstaff, teacher at Western for three years, are the fourth grade teachers.

1st Row: Linda Larson, Margaret Bridenbaugh, Karen Larson, Judith Hardin, Cheryl Bryan, Alison Derry.

HOLIDAYS CELEBRATED IN MANY INTERESTING WAYS BY THIRD GRADE

This year the third grade celebrated holidays in various ways. Fortunes were told for Halloween. During the Christmas season they enjoyed their traditional sugar plum tree. They also had an interesting study of Christmas plants.

While the class was studying a unit in social studies, they made a trip to the farm where they saw farm crops and machinery. When they were studying clothing, they learned how to weave. The class made tortillas during their study of Mexico.

The third graders initiated their own experiments in science class while studying sound and weather. They also visited the science building and took trips around the campus.

During the year, dramatizations were performed in the reading class.

Bulletin boards and shelf displays were correlated with the subjects. The students arranged their own displays of grains, rocks, shells, and clothing materials.

Mrs. Elna Nail and Mrs. Barbara Kowal are the teachers of the third grade.

DR. BERNARDY AND DR. MORROW TALK ABOUT HEALTH

The class is taught in several special ways. It is divided into two groups for reading and arithmetic. The controlled reader is used in one of the groups. Dramatization is used in the reading classes. The children also used visual aids in their science class when they grew a garden and hatched chicken eggs.

Several people helped the class with their studies. The children were privileged to have Dr. Bruce Morrow talk to them about the health and care of their teeth. Dr. Theodore Bernardy taught them about diseases and broken bones. As an added attraction, he showed the children some x-rays.

The class took several trips during the school year. These included visits to the dairy farm, fire station, Macomb Dairy, and a grocery store.

One member of the class, Scott Loomer, took a trip to Mexico during the fall quarter. He amused the other second graders with a pinata that he brought from Mexico.

The second grade had an interesting year, full of enjoyable and educational experiences.

CHILDREN BRING ITEMS FOR THEIR COLLECTION TABLE

Miss Elizabeth Savage teaches her first grade at Western from nine o'clock until three. During this time, her children learn to work and play together each school day. Miss Savage taught in both rural grade schools and in third grade before joining the staff at Western four years ago.

The first grade class has undertaken projects in making Christmas decorations and in bringing leaves to school. The children have a collection of dolls that they brought from home. Another interesting part of the first grade room is the "collection table." Here one can find a variety of items that the children have found out-of-doors.

The subjects enjoyed by the boys and girls are art, reading, music, science, language arts (consisting of speaking, writing and listening), physical education and arithmetic. For a half hour at noon the boys and girls have a rest period.

Miss Savage uses story telling and works stories into plays for the children to act out. The first graders also have work books.

Here, in a friendly atmosphere, Miss Savage's children develop, in every way possible, to meet the demands of the future.

1st Row: Kim Allen Shelton, Janet Roberts, Ricky Foster, Judy Ann Zimmerman, Ann Cordell, Terry Ellis, Billy Walton.

2nd Row: Terry Carnahan, Joe Grimm, Debbie Swango, Erik Bostrom, Laurie Crane, Christie Chatterton, John Wyne, Jay Garrison, Richie Gibb.

CLASS VISITS WYNE BROTHERS AND PRESENTS TWO PLAYS

Mrs. Neilsen's first graders were busy each day from nine o'clock to three. In class, through visual aids, class projects and reading, they advanced both academically and socially, to cope with the difficult problems of growing up.

The class kept occupied with trips and projects. They visited Wyne Brothers Furniture Store this year. When a classmate missed the trip to Wynes, he received cards with pictures the children had drawn of the store. As a sample of classroom projects, the first graders have become interested in caves and rock identification. During the Christmas season they worked on two plays.

The boys and girls studied a variety of subjects including arithmetic, science, reading, music, art, physical education, and language arts (listening, speaking and writing). At the end of the school day, the children had a half hour of free time for rest, finishing projects, choosing games to play and for other interests.

Mrs. Neilsen used a tape recorder and records as a learning device. The children learned to accept responsibility through the care of their classroom pets, consisting of a parakeet, five goldfish named Orangy, White Gold, Blacky, Flippy, and Spotty, and a canary.

Under Mrs. Neilsen's guidance, this first grade was kept active and interested in the world about them.

Mrs. Neilsen is teaching her first year at Western, replacing Miss Margaret Schannen. Mrs. Neilsen taught kindergarten before coming to Western.

1st Row: Steven Swango, Barbara Fritschel, John Scharfenberg, Ann Fritschel, Keith Storey, Rhonda Derry, William Sallee.

Miss Marjorie Burke's kindergarten enjoyed studying art, social living, science, language, literature, music and physical education. The class spent some time on sunny days touring the campus. They studied the fish and turtles in Lake Ruth, watched for changes in the trees and collected leaves, acorns and other articles of nature. Parties on such special occasions as Halloween, Christmas, Valentine's Day, and birthdays were an important part of the kindergarten year.

FACULTY

Mr. H. Waldo Horrabin, Principal of the Laboratory School

Mr. Horrabin has said:

Western Laboratory School has completed a most successful school year. As in the past these successes have been due to the fine spirit of cooperation between the student body, faculty and the administration. Western Laboratory School is looking forward to an expansion of its educational program and to an increase of opportunities for our students.

Western is quite proud of the role assigned to us in the important function of training teachers. Our faculty and student body take great pride in assuming such important responsibilities as preparing teachers for the school of tomorrow.

Western Laboratory School faces the future with feelings of great excitement and anticipation as plans for a new building and a more modern program are being formulated. We will never lose sight of our objective of making our school a good school for children and for the training of teachers.

Mrs. Wood is secretary to Mr. Horrabin.

Dr. Rolf Larson, Dean of the School of Education, has said:

We are all proud of our Campus School and proud of what its students have done. Some of you are finishing your work here; you now go out into work and into further study and we know that you, too, will make a place for yourself to which we can point with pride. Certainly you have done well here.

Others of you—the underclassmen—will be with us for a while longer. For you, we point to the Senior Class and ask you to emulate them. There are good years ahead. Do your best in them—here or away.

DEANS MAKE IMPORTANT CONTRIBUTION TO LIFE OF STUDENTS AT WESTERN HIGH

Counseling and guidance are among the many duties of Miss Velna Sollars, Dean of Girls, and Mr. Loren Taylor, Dean of Boys

Dr. George Potter, Coordinator of Laboratory Experiences

The Office of Laboratory Experiences is responsible for the program of observation and participation on the part of University students who are training to be teachers. It is also responsible for the student teaching program both in the Laboratory School and in the off-campus schools. Thus, all individual and group observations and all student teaching assignments are arranged through the office. Dr. George Potter is Coordinator. Dr. Norman Krong, Assistant Coordinator, and Dr. Donald Cay, Supervisor, have duties in the student teaching program and in teaching classes in the Education Department. The Coordinator of Laboratory Experiences works closely with Mr. Horrabin, the Principal of the Laboratory School, in making arrangements for observation, participation, and student teaching in the various classrooms and in the educational program of the school.

These people provide valuable services to Western High. Keeping the building comfortable, preparing a hot noon meal, and maintaining the health of the students is the responsibility of this staff.

Wilma Ray, Technician.

Mr. Cyril Butterfield, Mr. Lloyd Atwater, Mrs. Mary Mason, Mr. Harold Kennedy, Mr. Ray Buchholz.

The final days of the school year are solemn ones to the Senior, for he looks back at his successes and failures and looks to the realm of knowledge and the endless goals that gleam from the afterglow of generations before. Soon his high school career will fade away as the last rose of summer fades into eternity. However, he knows that there will always be another Senior to follow his path and the example he set. As he leaves the doors of the "Lab School," he sees a small child entering into not only just a school building but advancing into a world of the continuous development of character and growth.

Dear Students:

We present the 1962 Epilogue in the hope that preserved in it you will find a record of the past year such that it will bring back to your minds many fond memories of good times during high school. This yearbook is a continuous camera of school life. The staff hope that there are enough distinguishing features about it to set it apart as one of the best ever published. If our efforts have preserved for you a mirror of the past year so you can reconstruct in your mind's eye the events in their real semblance, then we shall consider our work well worthwhile.

May the Epilogue be of use to you now and in future years and serve as a source of inspiration toward higher and greater attainments in the years to follow.

To the staff:

Our book has become reality at last. All too soon the year has gone and here we are with only our memories and this book to help us relive that year. To us this book is a living thing, for we have watched it grow from week to week.

This year has been one of the most enjoyable of my life. I am glad I had the opportunity to work shoulder to shoulder with all of you on this book. It was fun to work so hard on a project that meant so much to us all. I will never forget the endless cutting, pasting, and mounting, or the problems on layout and copy. This book could not have been possible without your splendid cooperation.

We wish to express our gratitude to Ken Mietus, Junior at W.I.U., for the photography, to Mr. Claude Tarleton for the portraits, to Mr. Frank O'Connor of the W.I.U. audio-visual department, to Mr. E. A. Anderson of Inter-collegiate Press, printer of the 1962 Epilogue, and to Mr. Robert Yeast, Yeast Offset Printing, for setting copy.

We have enjoyed writing and organizing this book and give our best wishes to our successors, next year's staff, in the ever-present purpose of creating the "best Epilogue ever." Phyllis Herzog
